NEPPCO to merge with PEIA

LANCASTER - The Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO), one of the oldest all-feather regional trade associations in the country, will merge with the Poultry and Egg Institute of America (PEIA) on January 1, 1978, it was jointly announced by Richard I. Stark, president of NEPPCO, and Ken Longacre, chairman of the Board of PEIA.

Final action on the merger proposal came to NEPPCO's annual meeting held here last month in the Lancaster Farm and Home Center when NEPPCO members voted unanimously to accept the formal agreement that had been negotiated earlier by PEIA and NEPPCO officials and endorsed by PEIA's board of directors.

The agreement provides that:

1) All current members of NEPPCO will automatically become members of PEIA with their membership paid up to the month in 1978 when their dues would have again become payable to NEPPCO.

2) NEPPCO members will have the right to elect three members to PEIA's board of directors for one, two and three-year terms.

3) PEIA will take over and operate such current NEPPCO services as its life insurance plan, egg quality school, turkey conference, and similar services.

4) NEPPCO will convey and assign to PEIA all of its assets and stipulated

Wendy Shaw wins major dairy titles

HARRISBURG - Wendy Sue Shaw, 16, of Oley R2 Berks County, repeated her championship performance for the second straight year in the 22nd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show held as part of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg. Wendy, a 4-H member for eight years, captured the grand and senior championships in FFA Holstein competition with W-S Linden-Loch R A Sutee, a 2-year-old.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Shaw,, Wendy was also named the grand champion fitter and showman for both Holstein and overall competition. Last year her 5-year-old, Bryncoed Dandy Doll, won her grand champion honors in 4-H Holstein and overall competition. A separate article on Miss Shaw's accomplishments and outlook appears elsewhere in this issue.

In the other breed classes, it was a family affair with brothers and sisters scoring wins in Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Jersey and Milking Shorthorn classes. The Yoder family from Shoemakersville, Berks County, continued to

4-H member wins beef championship

LAMPETER – The grand champion steer of the West Lampeter Beef Show was shown by Marjorie Myers, Lancaster R6. The 15 yr. old sophomore from Penn Manor, and 4-H member, showed her heavyweight steer, weighing 1155 lbs., to the top position, making the award the youth's first championship. The steer was a Simmental-Angus crossbred.

The reserve champion steer was shown by Tim Hess, 14, a fifth year 4-H member. The Lampeter youth showed his Maine-Anjoi Anugs Charolais crossbred weighing 1000 lbs. The animal had been bred locally.

In the FFA division, top honors went to two brothers. Jay McMichael, Pequea R1, was named champion while his brother Steve's steer was named reserve champion. Both steers weighed 1045 lbs. The champion FFA steer was a Charolais-Angus crossbred while the reserve champion was a Simmental-Hereford cross.

In the showmanship division, Michelle Dean, Strasburg R1, showed the top winner in the age 11 yrs. and under class. In the senior division, Debra Greider, Columbia R2, won the first prize.

Judge for the evening was

Sandy Miller, former Berks County dairy princess, received the state title on Wednesday of last week.

Sandy Miller crowned new Pa. dairy princess

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

HARRISBURG - There's a dairy farmer in Berks County who is spending his weekend repainting a sign at the end of his lane. The sign originally read: "The home of the Berks County Dairy Princess." Now, it will instead read, "The home of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess."

Sandy Miller, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller, Hamburg R2, is Pennsylvania's 1977-78 state dairy princess. She was selected from 39 lovely and talented contestants during the 21st Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation held Wednesday evening at the Penn Harris Motor Inn at Camp Hill. The coronation is the climax of the annual recognition banquet held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

A life-long farm girl, Sandy is currently employed within the home dairying operation. A 1977 graduate of the State University of New York at Farmingdale, with an associate of applied science degree, the new princess hopes to secure a

Nearly six million celebrate 4-H week

DOVER, Del. - From California's agricultural valleys to the central citites of the East Coast, more than 5.8 million young people will observe National 4-H Week October 2 through 8. Theme of this year's observance is "4-H–Freedom to Be."

President Jimmy Carter said in a message to 4-H members and volunteer leaders: "'4-H–Freedom to Be' is a most appropriate theme for an effort that reaches out to all young Americans - rural and urban - from all racial, cultural, economic and social backgrounds. For many, 4-H is the door to a lifetime of personal growth and self-fulfillment."

National 4-H Week is set annually by the Cooperative Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. The observance gives 4-H members, their leaders, and parents an opportunity to review the past year's work and plan for the coming year. It also focuses public attention on the values of 4-H as an informal educational program that enables young people to learn real-life skills and develop leadership abilities.

Boys and girls between the ages of nine and 19 participate in 4-H through organized clubs, special interest groups, nutrition education programs, television series, short-term activities, and camping.

Eastern refutes business stories

SYRACUSE – Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative has strenghtened its over-all position in the Northeast dairy industry and with its lending bank through the adoption of a new financial program with its members and increased sales to buying handlers, it was reported here last week. Howard McDonald, Eastern's general manager, refuted statements to the contrary which have recently appeared in the press.

The new financial program, in effect since September 1, 1977, was recently acted upon by the cooperative's delegate body and placed into motion by its board of directors. Designed to offset losses experienced by Eastern in marketing huge supplies of surplus milk, benefitting both members and the entire dairy industry, the program also meets the bank's requirements and improves the cooperative's relationship thereto.

Inaccurate statements which appeared in several newspaper articles last month have caused some unrest within Eastern's membership. Legal redress is being seriously considered by the cooperative for these

Champs chosen at New Holland

By JOANNE SPAHR

NEW HOLLAND - Two junior livestock shows were on tap at the New Holland Community Fair last Thursday–the 4-H beef and the 4-H hog shows.

Beginning the day's events, 14-year-old Glenn Yoder, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Yoder, Morgantown R1, showed his 1060 pound Charolais/Angus crossbred steer to the grand championship title of the 4-H beef show. This is the highest the fifth year 4-H member has placed thus far in his career.

The Garden Spot freshman pulled lots out of a hat to determine the steer he would show this year, as did all members of the New Holland 4-H Beef Club. According to Yoder, the animal was purchased in Virginia.

Taking the reserve champion of the show as Janae Martin, 11, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Martin, with her purebreed 1040 pound Angus. Janae is a second year member of the New Holland Beef Club, although she has never shown previous to this year. Last year her animal was killed by a motorcyclist one month prior to the show.

"She's really pleased to be the reserve champion this year," says her mother. Miss Martin was also named

At Pennfield, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

"All feed companies are alike."

If you believe that statement, you could be missing an opportunity to increase your output of eggs, pork or milk—without increasing your costs.

At Pennfield, our basic goal is to help our customers make more money. We believe we can accomplish this for you, too. For these reasons:

• Customized feeding programs. We specifically tailor a program to your operation, not to an "operation like yours."

• Nutritionally-superior feeds. We go a step beyond many conventional feeds. Our feeds have "optimum-nutrient density" (most profitable nutrient level per pound of feed) and contain high-quality protein for balanced amino acid nutrition.

• Quality in, quality out. We chemically analyze all incoming feed grains for pesticide residues and toxins... and all finished feeds for overall quality and nutrient content.

• Technical service. We're responsive to your needs—by phone or on your farm.

• A local company. We buy our feed grains locally; shipping savings are passed on to customers. Our feeding programs are developed based on local conditions. We do test work and field trials based on local conditions.

These and other Pennfield advantages are helping hundreds of new customers increase their profits. We can do the same for you. But you must take the first step by phoning or writing us. Do it today.

Ask the Old Farmer: Recently, at an auction I bought an item called a Cape Cod lighter for a fireplace starter. What is the fluid that traditionally has been used in them? R W, Providence, R I

Kerosene, mostly — but alcohol would do.

Home Hints: Add diced raw celery to canned peas and carrots and heat, the celery gives good texture contrast

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Heavy rain and cool through Wednesday, remainder of week sunny and mild

Greater New York-New Jersey: Clear and very warm to start, then heavy rain and cool through Thursday, week's end clear

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Rain and colder through Thursday; clear weekend

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny and hot with showers west through Wednesday, fair, mild, scattered rain east throughout the week's end

Omaha Cattle

Omaha, Neb.
September 29, 1977

CATTLE: Compared with the previous weeks close.

Closing prices on slaughter steers were 50-1.00 higher. Heifers closed mostly 50 cents higher, instances 75 cents higher. Cows were steady and bulls weak to 1.00 lower.

Four day receipts 13,000 as compared 14,600 previous week and 12,900 a year ago. For the second successive week, fed cattle prices advanced on moderate supplies with the midweek upturn supported by higher carcass prices at the wholeslae level. Cattle marketing was often given priority as ideal fall weather permitted harvest operations and field work to move ahead at full speed, and there was generally no particular seller pressure to move the available supply of market-ready cattle: much of the steer and heifer supply was of good to average choice grade and well-finished steers over 1200 lbs. were relatively scarce. Slaughter Steers made up approximately 34 pct and heifers 32 pct. Cows comprised 7 pct and feeders for Friday auction 25 pct.

STEERS: At midweek high time, load and part load choice and prime 1105-1220 lbs. predominantly 3 with end 4 42.35-42.50, Highest locally since early July. Choice 2-4 1025-1250 lbs. closed 41.00-42.00, some mostly choice 3 950-1000 lbs. 40.50-41.00. Mixed Good and Choice 2-4 950-1275 lbs. 40.00-41.00. Good 2-3 36.00-40.00. Standard and Good 2-3 34.50-35.50.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for Choice 900-1100 lbs. steers this week 41.05; Choice 1100-1300 41.35. Average Weight steers first three days 1101 lbs. compared 1102 lbs. previous week. Average weight heifers first three days 956 lbs. compared with 948 lbs. previous week.

HEIFERS: Two loads Choice and Prime 3-4 955-1022 lbs. 40.15, several loads same grade 3-4 957-1029 lbs. 40.00. Choice 2-4 875-1025 lbs. Closed 38.75-40.00. Mixed Good and Choice 2-3 825-975 lbs. 37.50-38.75. Good 2-3 33.50-37.00. Small lots standard and Good 2-3 31.50-33.00.

COWS: Utility and Commercial 2-4 24.50-26.00. Canner and Cutter 21.50-25.00, short load good stock cows 27.00.

BULLS: 1-2 1400-1800 lbs. closed 31.00-34.00.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Forage for thought for 4-H

I must confess I was never a 4-H'er. Nor an FFA'er Instead, I was a plain old farm boy I've never regretted that, and will always cherish the precious years I spent on the farm

But I can see that 4-H clubs offer enough stimulation and activity to be worthy of consideration to any adolescent. If you think that all they do is play childish games and parade animals around a show ring, you're wrong 4-H is much more than that

The activities offered within 4-H clubs encourage responsibility, competition, service, leadership maturity, fun, and dedication to the improvement of the four H's -- head, hands, heart, and health.

No, 4-H clubs don't make a superman out of anyone, nor will they give anyone some sort of magical formula to success and happiness But they'll help towards those goals Also, these same clubs will do a lot for the young fellow who's too shy to stand in front of anything but a cow or tractor And there isn't a better place around for meeting people your own age with your kind of interests.

When you witness a well organized 4-H club in action, two well-known advertising slogans come to mind: "It's a natural and they've got a better idea "

The udderly fantastic show

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show ranks as one of the finest such displays of dairy cattle in the country, possible the world If one Holstein breeder hadn't already thought of the clever name for his own herd, you could call this entire show "Dream Street." It's that good Larger in the number of entries than the World Dairy Exposition which takes place in Madison, Wis next week, the Pennsylvania All-American has won recognition all over the U S. as well as foreign countries. This year, for example, representatives from Central and South American dairy interests were in Harrisburg. Several breeds hold their national shows here.

Wiht junior dairy shows included, the Pa. All-American boasts around 2000 head of top quality dairy animals It all adds up to offer the interested dairyman a look at some of the top cows to be found anywhere.

Sadly, however, relatively few people take advantage of this opportunity The arena seats at the Farm Show Complex were very sparsely populated. Here we have a high calibre dairy show right in our own backyard -- the kind some folks would travel 1000 miles to see -- and yet the opportunity is missed by many area dairymen In contrast, it's interesting to note that a dairy farmer friend of mine traveled here this week from Petalumu, Calif just to see some cattle in eastern parts of the country.

Perhaps too many dairymen in this area are too busy during this time of year to want to take time off for a day in Harrisburg Silos are still being filled, corn is ready to be picked, and local fairs aren't yet over with.

The fact remains, however, that a lot of good insights could be harvested by attending an event such as the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show. These shows go on in Harrisburg each Fall and they're an event which would amaze even the dairyman who's just casually interested in breeding stock. My California friend, for example, is a commercial dairyman

The Pennsylvania All-American can boast a lot of top A-1 dairy animals, there's no doubt at all about that.

They're molding the future

Some folks I meet make me wonder how or when they get their farm work done. They show up at various meetings -- particularly youth activities -- and are present at a lot of competitive events. One might think that their entire lives center around this sort of thing. They never seem to be too busy to not be able to attend a show or meeting.

Surprisingly enough, these same folks are often times the better managers Somehow they do get their work done And it isn't just farmers who fit into this category, it's also agribusinessmen and county Extension personnel and other people who take an interest in raising the best crop.

The best crop, of course, are our children.

The men and women who devote so much of their time to organizing activities and providing opportunities are 4-H club leaders. They're just as busy as many other people are, but they always have time left over to work with the 8 to 19-year olds. They know that the best way to raise children is to give them a part of their time, and they apparently never feel imposed upon to do just that. They're all volunteers who care enough about their own future to want to give the next generation a good healthy start in theirs.

We salute the men and women who have done so much to make 4-H one of the most wholesome and worthwhile youth organizations in the country.

GUILTY JUDGES

Lesson for October 2, 1977

Background Scripture:
John 8:1-11;
Luke 6:37-42; Romans 14.
Devotional Reading:
Psalm 133.

The scribes and Pharisees weren't fooling anyone, least of all Jesus, when they came to him asking, "Teacher, this woman has been caught in the act of adultery. Now in the law Moses commanded us to stone such. What do you say about her?" (John 8:4). No one believed for a moment that they were perplexed by this question. It was an obvious trap, a plan to get Jesus to say something self-incriminating.

They knew Him

Obviously, they wouldn't have even asked him this question if it weren't for the fact that they thought they already knew how he would feel about it. They had heard him often enough to know that, unlike many, he was a man who focused, not upon rules and regulations, but upon forgiveness, redemption, and mercy.

But, if they knew him, he knew the woman. Oh, that doesn't mean he necessarily had ever met her or knew anything personal about her, but that he saw her, not as an adulteress, but as a child of God. He knew that she was a far better woman than the scribes and Pharisees would admit. He knew that there was something worthwhile in her to redeem.

Even more, Jesus knew them, the scribes and Pharisees. As he saw this woman as better than they saw her, he also saw them as not as righteous as they imagined themselves. None of them were as wonderful in the sight of God as they imagined. He knew that in every heart there lurked some of the same evil that the self-righteous legalists so despised in others. Thus, he knew what he was doing when he said: "Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone at her" (8:7).

He knew them

The scribes and the Pharisees knew that Jesus's attitude toward the sinner was likely to be different than the traditions of their religion. They expected that he would show concern for the sinner, not the law. So, they anticipated a different approach and they got it.

Just as last week I suggested that with all too few exceptions Christians have rarely "bought" Jesus' idea of love, so too I would say that we have rarely "bought" his approach to judgement and redemption. Someone recently told me that the atmosphere in his church is much more one of judgmentalism than of redemption. "It is one of the last places to which I would want to direct a sinner," he said.

At our own peril we forget that judgement belongs to God alone and the reason is that we are not capable of that judgement. Like the scribes and Pharisees who confronted Jesus, we cannot cast the first stones because we ourselves are not without sin. Our vision of our brother is too much obscured by the "logs" in our own eyes. As guilty judges, it is enough to focus on our own sins.

NOW IS THE TIME...

TO INSIST ON HEALTH PAPERS

Livestock diseases continue to be a threat to many local producers. Some authorities feel that the fewer animals pruchased from other farms, the better off a man will be; however, this has some limitations when it comes to buying replacement sires. With the ever presence of Brucellosis in cattle, and the danger of hog cholera or Pseudorabies in hogs, producers should not take chances. With the heavy dairy and livestock population in this part of the country, there is a lot of traffic between farms and sales concerns. We urge all breeders and feeders to continue to be extremely careful; be sure the health papers are sufficient and official. Don't buy disease.

TO FLUSH EWE FLOCK

Sheep breeders are in the midst of the breeding season and should be giving special attention to the ewe flock. If they can be fed extra grain, or turned to lush grass pasture, for several weeks before being bred, most ewes will produce more twin lambs. To get the ewes in a gaining condition at breeding time should be the objective. A treatment for eradication of internal parasites should also be on the list of practices to get a better 1978 lamb crop.

TO PREPARE FOR COLDER WEATHER

The month of October usually brings our first taste of frost and colder weather. Insulation, ventilation, and storm doors will soon be put into use. Flowers and vegetables subject to frost damage should be given some protection; be prepared to cover these plants on short notice. Buildings in which small pigs and lambs are to be housed should be tightened, insulated, and prepared for cold weather. Water pipes should be buried at least 36 inches deep (normally deep enough) or warpped with electric heating tape. Water cooled motors need attention in order to keep them from freezing. Don't wait until freezing weather to get some of these chores done.

BADGER PERSUADER PUMP AGITATOR

The Badger PERSUADER Pump Agitator agitates and pumps from open lagoons. . .quickly and efficiently. No dock is necessary. It is simple. Powerful. Rugged. Versatile. Easy to operate. Easy to maneuver. Easy to transport.

The Badger PERSUADER Pump Agitator is designed for use in open lagoons without docks or ramps.. or lagoons where ramps or docks are not properly located to permit complete agitation. The PERSUADER is easy to position and can be used in any depth lagoon. It's twenty-four feet long...long enough to reach out beyond sloped sidewalls and deep into your lagoon. The impeller and housing can be hydraulically raised or lowered as much as five feet from the horizontal (by changing the position of the trailer on its mount), permitting easy backing and positioning over lagoon banks and sidewalls.

Bensing, Krall win 4-H awards

UNIVERSITY PARK - In the 4-H National Awards Program, Robert Bensing, 19, of 701 Klein Avenue, Lebanon, was named state winner in forestry; and Richard Krall, 20, of 200 Flintville Road, Lebanon, was named state nominee for an animal science scholarship.

Bensing will receive an expense-paid trip to National 4-H congress in Chicago, November 27 to December 1. Both Bensing and Krall will compete for scholarships at the national level with winners to be announced during the national conference.

Support of the forestry project is provided by the International Paper Company, and the animal science scholarship, Allied Mills, Inc.

Robert Bensing is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bensing, Sr., a sophomore at Penn State majoring in horticulture. He has been a 4-H member for seven years.

A member of the Norsolebco 4-H Community Club and Happy Trail Riders 4-H Horse Club, Robert served as president, vice president, treasurer and news reporter. He also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The state forestry contest winner completed projects in wildlife conservation, forestry, gardening, flowers, veterinary science, horse, teen leadership, and agronomy.

Locally, Robert took part in the county fair, day camp, olympic day, and officers training.

He also participated in the Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, District 4-H Camp, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, State 4-H Achievement Days, Citizenship Short Course, and National Junior Horticultural Association Convention.

Robert Bensing

He was state winner in the 4-H Horticulture Judging Contest in 1975 and a member of the winning flower judging team that captured the state contest in 1974.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krall, Richard Krall is a junior at Virginia Polytechnic Institute majoring in dairy science. He has been a 4-H member for 10 years.

A member of the Cedar Crest 4-H Dairy Club, he served as president, secretary, and treasurer, and assisted as a teen leader the past six years.

The scholarship nominee completed projects in dairy, tractor maintenance, automotive, and teen leadership.

In Lebanon County, he participated in the dairy show, demonstration contest, and officers training.

He also took part in the Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, State 4-H Achievement Days, Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress, and Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat.

In 1976 he was named state winner in petroleum power and received an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Yoders win Shorthorn show

Sam Yoder and his champion Milking Shorthorn cow at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

HARRISBURG - State exhibitors fared well Tuesday in the Milking Shorthorn classes at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show held in the Farm Show complex.

Samuel G. Yoder of Pinesedge Farms, Shoemakersville, was named premier breeder and exhibitor, continuing the Yoder family dominance of the Milking Shorthorn competition. Yoder's children Nedra, Wendy and Frederick had shown winning entries in Monday's Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show in Shorthorn classes.

Yoder's entry, "Pinesedge Melody," exhibited by daughter Nedra, was named grand champion and senior champion female. The 6-year-old cow has been the grand champion cow in the Junior show for the past two years.

The reserve grand and reserve senior champion, six-year-old "Greenvista SVPP Peggy 2nd," is owned and exhibited by the Three Springs Farm, Newville.

Sandy River Farms, Farmington, Maine, exhibited the junior

Top cow judges named at All-American

A 4-H team from Berks County and an FFA team from Cumberland Valley High School won top honors in the third annual Pennsylvania 4-H and FFA Dairy Judging Forum held Tuesday at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg.

The judging was limited to persons belonging to 4-H and Future Farmers of America organizations in the state. Contestants are judged on their evaluations and decisions in making their own judging events. The forum includes a quiz for contestants on dairy herd management.

In the individual judging competition, Christine Gitt of Adams County placed first in 4-H judging while Kevin Smoker of Ephrata, won top FFA honors.

Teams from Lebanon, Tioga, Washington, and Crawford Counties placed second through fifth respectively in the 4-H judging. FFA placings and teams were: second, Bradford; third, Oxford; fourth, Solanco; and fifth, Ephrata.

Members of the Berks County 4-H winners were: Steven Shaw, Wendy Shaw, and Debra Stump. The Cumberland Valley FFA team consisted of Scott Foreman, John Stover, Ron Stover and Kendra Saphore.

Rankings for individual judging in the 4-H competition were: first, Christine Gitt, Adams County; second, Dan Carr, Somerset County; third, Roy Malik, Westmoreland County; fourth, Dana Geyer, Montgomery County; and fifth, Kress Simpson, Tioga County.

Individual winners in the FFA forum were: first, Kevin Smoker, Ephrata, FFA; Larry Burkholder, Ephrata, second; third, Wanda Carter, Solanco; fourth, Ron Stover, Cumberland Valley; and fifth, Dean Jackson; Bradford FFA.

Robert Ambler, Jr. had the champion Hampshire ewe, showing a ewe lamb, while Billy MacCauley, Atglen R1, (on right), showed a Suffolk ewe lamb to its breed championship.

On the left, Gerald Rohrer, Quarryville R1, showed the champion Southdown ewe; Pam Jefferies, Delta R2, in the center had the champion Dorset ewe, and Fred Keyes, Cochranville R1, showed the champion Shropshire ewe.

Sheep show held at W. Lampeter Fair

By KENDACE DORRY

LAMPETER - Tim Frey, a 15 year old FFA member, won the market lamb championship at the West Lampeter Community Fair compeitition held this week. Judged by Dr. Robert Herr, the Suffolk lamb had been awarded to Frey by the Penn Manor FFA Chapter. It was the first time that Frey had shown in competition.

In the Market lambs pen of three, top winner was 10 year old Pam Jeffries, Delta R2.

In the breeding sheep classes, James Jefferies had the champion ram and ewe in the Dorset division while Billy MacCauley, Atglen R1, did the same with his Suffolks in his class. The champion Shropshire ewe was shown by Fred Keyes, Cochranville R1, while Gerald Rohrer took top and reserve honors in the Southdowns with his ewe lamb.

Robert Ambler, Cochranville R1, took both champion and reserve champion honors with his two Hampshire ewes.

Junior fitting class winner was Gerald Rohrer, a first year member of the Red Rose Beef and Sheep Club of Lancater County. Sixteen year old Fred Keyes took top placing in the senior fitting.

In the grooming classes, the senior winner was Billy MacCauley, who at 12 years of age, has been showing for about 3½ years and is currently a member of the Golden Fleece 4-H Club. Junior grooming winner was 17 year old Donna Stoltzfus, Quarryville R3, who is a second year member of the same club.

Complete results of the sheep show follow:

Plain & Fancy expands

ELIZABETHTOWN - Jay Habecker, general manager of Plain and Fancy Ag Enterprises, headquartered here, has announced the acquisition of Stegmeier Farms, Tamaqua, on Sept. 19, 1977 as a branch production and processing plant.

Ruth Stegmeier, president of Stegmeier Farms, reports that the operation consists of 250 acres of farmland and 75,000 laying hens. The farm was acquired Sept. 19 and will serve as a branch production and processing plant.

The acquisition of Stegmeier Farms represents just a part of the expansion plans now in progress at Plain and Fancy, according to Paul Hess Sr., president. The Tamaqua operation will now be known as Plain and Fancy Farms, a division of Plain and Fancy Egg Ranch, Inc.

Esta Lapp repeated her winnings from last year when she showed the grand champion market swine at the New Holland Community Fair on Thursday.

Glenn Yoder holds the halter of his Charolais/Angus crossbred champion of the New Holland 4-H beef show. Standing behind the animal is Kenneth Stoltzfus, representing the buyers, Stoltzfus Meats, Intercourse. The champion sold for $1.25 per pound.

Champs chosen

Janae received some expert advice this year from two experienced beef showmen–her brothers Jeff and Mike. Last year Jeff was the grand champion of the New Holland show and just recently took the reserve grand champion title at the Ephrata Fair.

Judge William Holloway, the manager of South Branch Farms, Seven Valleys R1, said he chose the grand champion over the reserve because "it showed the most total red meat in the form of muscling and natural thickness." According to Holloway, the animal should prove to be a high yielding steer which will grade choice.

In the showmanship contest, Linda High, Creek Hill Road, Lancaster, repeated last year's championship win.

The complete results of the show follow:

Angus

1. Janae Martin, New Holland R3; 2. Marlin Groff, Lancaster; 3. Randy Musselman, New Holland R3; 4. Vicki Bare, Witmer.

Crossbreds

1. Glenn Yoder, Morgantown R1; 2. Audrey Hoover, Gap R1; 3. Randy Martin, East Earl R2; 4. Jeff Martin, New Holland R3; and 5. Steve Smith, Denver R2.

Herefords

1. Jane Groff, Leola; 2. Barbara Young, Gap; 3. Kathy Martin, New Holland R3; 4. Dale Hershey, Ronks R1; 5. Tami Groff, New Holland R3; 6. Gary Eberly, East Earl R2; and Dwayne Reiter, Narvon R2.

Showmanship

1. Linda High, 2. Jane Groff, Leola; 3. Jeff Martin, 4. Randy Martin; 5. Kathy Martin

Fitting

1. Janae Martin, 2. Jeff Martin, 3. Tami Groff, and 4. Dale Hershey.

BEEF SALE

Later in the afternoon at the beef sale, Glenn Yoder received $1.25 per pound from Stoltzfus Meats, Intercourse, for his grand champion. At 1060 pounds, the total amount earned by Yoder was $1325. This is the second consecutive year the butcher shop purchased the champion. Last year's price was $2.00 per pound.

The reserve champion steer owned by Janae Martin sold for $.66 per pound to Riverside Beef Company, Riverside, N.J. At 1040 pounds, the total for the purebred angus came to $686.40.

The average for the sale with the champions came to $62.26 per hundredweight and $59.51 per hundredweight without the champions.

SWINE SHOW

Esta Lapp, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lapp, Kinzers R1, made it to the top two years in a row when she showed the grand champion market hog of the New Holland Community Fair, Thursday.

Miss Lapp, whose father is known for his Belgian horses, is a six year 4-H member. This year she chose to show a Landrace/Hampshire corssbred

Livestock team places third

RICHMOND, Va. – At an Eastern Regional 4-H livestock judging contest held here on Sept. 24, the Pennsylvania team was third overall with 1413 points. Only Virginia and Kentucky edged ahead of the Keystone 4-H'ers, with scores of 1521 and 1506, respectively.

The Pennsylvania team is composed of Lancaster Countians Sam Long of Peach Bottom, Sarah Brubaker of Lancaster, Debbie Carmean, East Petersburg, and Judy Long, Ephrata. They had won the state title in early August during State 4-H Days at Penn State. Part of their reward was the trip to Virginia where they had the opportunity to compete with 4-H'ers from six other states.

The four young livestock judges did their best in the beef judging contest with 575 points. The Virginia team edged them by three points. Sam Long was third high individual in that event. Sarah Brubaker was fifth.

The dividing lines became even thinner in the hog judging competition when Maryland edged Pennsylvania and North Carolina by a single point. That tied the latter two for fourth place on the basis of points earned as a team.

The state's 4-H sheep judges garnered a sixth place.

Coaches for the team are Max Smith, senior Lancaster County Extension agent, with Gary Dean assisting. Dean was in charge of the team during the group's visit to Richmond.

Cinderella charms judge with magic and majesty

HARRISBURG -- Cinderella, a 5-year old Holstein owned by Robert Kauffman of Elizabethtown, kept her winning streak alive on Tuesday of this week when she was chosen as senior and grand champion by Canadian judge Robert Flett. Cinderella, a stylish black-and-white which Kauffman purchased at the National Holstein Sale in Atlantic City in 1974, carries her sire's name and is working on an incomplete lactation record which reads: 273 days, 26,271 M, 3.7 per cent, and 985 F.

Leading a class of aged cows, Cinderella has won five major shows in the state this year and will be shown at the World Dairy Exposition in Madison, Wis., next week.

Cinderella's full name is Andfar Astronaut Cinderella. She was bred by Andfar Farms of Andover, N.J.

The reserve champion was exhibited by T.K. Nittershouse, owner of Ni-Crete Farms, Chambersburg. The cow, Ni-Crete Barbara R Citation, is out of the farm's own bull, and will be five years old in December.

Junior champion and reserve junior champion honors went to James McCaffree of Doylestown, and Lynn and Bonnie Miller, Townada, respectively.

The grand champion bull was exhibited by Raymond Seidel, Kutztown, who brought a son of Cabin-Creek Hey Boy into the ring. The reserve champion, a son of Harborcrest Marcus, was shown by Elsood Ohlinger of Mohrsville.

This show, the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's Fall Championship Show, is a warm-up to the Eastern National, which took place here in Harrisburg on Thursday and Friday. All of the events are a part of the Pennsylvania All-American, one of the most renowned dairy expositions in the world.

More than 200 animals were shown in the Fall Championship event by more than 90 exhibitors from all across Pennsylvania. All tolled, around 2000 dairy animals went through the Pennsylvania All-American's show ring.

Jersey banners elude area youths

HARRISBURG – Marcia Jo Minor, 14, of Washington R2, Washington County, won the grand and senior championships in Jersey judging competition at the 92nd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show with Casonova Champion Rebecca, a 6-year-old. The champion was sired by Milestone Penn Casonova. Marcia Jo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Minor, has been a 4-H member for seven years. She also won a master fitter award.

Darlene McConaughey, 14, of Smicksburg, Indiana County, won the reserve grand and reserve senior championship honors with Huntsdale Nancys Irene, a 2-year-old. The animal was sired by Nancys Sleeping Advancer. Darlene, who won the junior championship title with the same animal at the 1976 show, has been a 4-H member for five years. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McConaughey, she also won master fitter and showman awards.

Stepanie Kocher, 13, of RD 1, Mansfield, Tioga County, showing Raintree Golden Lynette, a senior yearling, won the junior championship. The junior champion's sire is Golden Faithful. Stephanie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Kocher, has been a 4-H member for three years. She also won master fitter and showman awards.

Denise McConaughey, 17, of Smicksburg, sister of Darlene, won the reserve junior championship with Advancer Milestone Nancys Betsy, an intermediate calf. The calf was sired by Advancer Sleeping Milestone. Denise also won master fitter and showman awards.

Brian Rock, 14, of RD 1, Landisburg, was judged champion fitter and showman in the Jersey breed. He won with Beauty Sunnybrook Lolly Pop, a senior yearling. He has been a 4-H member for four years and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rock.

Although exhibitors from southeastern and south-central Pennsylvania were shut out of the banner positions, some commendable performances were turned in from Lancaster Farming's prime coverage area. Included among the winners or near winners from this area were Pat Bukowski of Mount Joy, whose junior calf stood second in Harrisburg in a class of 14. Elizabeth Wollaston, Toughkenamon, saw her entry place fourth in that class. Bruce Andrien, West Chester, had the fifth-place entry.

Patricia Ann Jenkins had a second-place intermediate calf and Henry Heyer saw his place fifth.

Entries from western Pennsylvania shut out contenders from this area, with Marilyn Deaven, Lebanon, garnering a sixth place. There were 16 animals entered in that class.

A Chester County girl broke the westerner's winning streak, however, by showing the first-place junior yearling. Alison Scheib of Phoenixville is the proud owner. Bucks

Pa. ranks high in regional FFA judging

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. - In the 15-state North Atlantic Regional FFA judging contest held at the Eastern States Exposition in West Springfield, Mass., recently, Pennsylvania placed higher, consistently, than any other state participating.

All told, the Pennsylvania FFA'ers racked up two first placings - in dairy cattle judging and safe tractor operating. Three second rank berths also went to the Commonwealth in milk quality and dairy foods judging; agricultural mechanics, small gas engines; and livestock judging.

The top ranking dairy cattle judging team was comprised of Steve Ritchey, Loysburg; David Pittman, Loysburg; and Herb Clapper, New Enterprise R1. The team's strong area was in Ayrshire judging in which they were named the high team of the contest.

Individually, Steve Ritchey was the first place judge over all members involved in the contest, winning his highest recognition in judging Brown Swiss.

David Pittman was rated seventh, individually, over all dairy cattle judges.

Tim Casner, Newport, Pa., was named the first place individual in the safe tractor operating contest.

Tim Casner

In milk quality and dairy foods judging, the second place Pennsylvania team was comprised of twin sisters Maxine and Eileen Messner, New Holland, Pa. Dan Hershberger, Quarryville, completed the team effort.

These three team members placed sixth, seventh, and eighth, in the individual placings.

The second placed small gas engines team was comprised of David Renninger and Jerry Wagner, both of Beaver Springs.

Dennis Householder, Holbrook R1; Chris Klinedinst, Wrightsville R1; and Jody Trautuetter, Darlington R1, comprised the second ranking livestock judging team. Individually, Jody Trautuetter placed sixth in the contest, Chris Klinedinst placed ninth, and Dennis Householder placed 10th.

In ornatmental horticulture judging, Pennsylvania dropped two notches to take fourth place with Felicia Gordner, Brownstown, named 10th place individual.

Fifth place honors went to the Commonwealth's FFA members in the FFA electrical contest for agricultural mechanics. Daniel Witwer, New Holland, and Dallas Smith, Dover, both placed individually with Witwer ranking fourth and Smith taking ninth place honors.

In poultry judging, Pennsylvania placed sixth.

The first place dairy judging team from Pennsylvania is flanked by Bruce Maloch, the National FFA secretary (left), and Willis Hayes, president of the Eastern States Exposition on the right. The team members consisted of Steve Ritchey, Loysburg; David Pitman, Loysburg; and Herb Clapper, New Enterprise R1.

HARRISBURG – For the second straight year, Nedra Yoder, 18, Shoemakersville, captured the grand and senior championship honors in Milking Shorthorn judging at the 22nd Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show with Pinesedge Melody, a 6-year-old. The winning entry was sired by Pinesedge Appollo. Nedra, showing as a 4-H member, is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Samuel Yoder.

Frederick Yoder, 17, of Shoemakersville, brother of Nedra, showed the reserve grand and reserve senior champion, a 3-year-old, Pinesedge Flora Cheri 15th. The animal's sire is Tabbagong Flora's Prince. Frederick, a 4-H member for 10 years, showed the senior champion Milking Shorthorn at the 1975 Junior Dairy Show. The young man also showed the junior champion, Pinesedge Davy Cherry 18th, a senior yearling. The Pinesedge Dawey. Frederick showed as a 4-H member.

Wendy Yoder, 15, sister of Nedra and Frederick, showed the reserve junior champion, C.H. Gay Irma, a senior calf. The reserve junior champion was sired by Lilydale Lucy's Promise 10th. Wendy has been a 4-H member for six years.

Although the Yoders completely dominated the Milking Shorthorn show, they did not have the exDoug Marsh of Sadsburyville had the first-place intermediate calf, and Charles Weisz of Fombell had the best 2-year old.

Charles R. Weisz, 13, of Fombell, Lawrence County, exhibiting Promise Lisa, a two-year-old Milking Shorthorn, captured the champion fitting and showmanship honors at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. Charles has been a 4-H liabilities as of the date of the agreement and will, thereupon, cease operations.

Following ratification of the agreement, NEPPCO members elected Berwyn B. Gehgan, manager of North American Poultry Co-op. Ass'n., New York City; Hendrik Wentink, assistant to the president of the Pennfield Corporataion, Lancaster, and Richard I. Stark, director of production for Hubbard Farms, Walpole, N.H. to serve on the PEIA board for terms of one, two and three years respectively.

Commenting on this move in his report to the NEPPCO membership, Stark said, "No one lies to see an old, respected organization like NEPPCO pass out of the picture. But the very essence of change - and of progress - is that the old must eventually give way to the new. Over the past decade, the poultry industry has changed dramatically - and continued change is forecast for the future. The poultry industry today will no longer support the many organizations it has spawned over years past. The modern poultry operator is being strangled by bureaucracy through legislation and regulation. Today we need a strong, effective, national association with adequate staff to protect our interests.

"PEIA is a strong, national associtions which, like NEPPCO, encompasses the egg, broiler and turkey industries. It will be moving its headquarters from Kansas City to Washington by the end of this year. It offers its members a wide range of services and benefits similar to those offered by NEPPCO, but on a broader and more comprehensive scale. In addition to the three NEPPCO members of PEIA's Board, we will also be represented on the PEIA Washington staff by our executive director, Dick Ammon, who has accepted a position as director of regulatory Affairs and will be working with Lee Campbell, PEIA's vice president of government relations. Dick's primary responsiblilities will include liaison with Federal agencies, working with the Shell Egg Section (all egg producer members), managing the exhibits at the annual Fact Finding Conference, and assisting and coordinating the work of several PEIA Committees.

"The NEPPCO Convention," Stark emphasized, "will be held as scheduled this year at the Host Farm near Lancaster, Nov. 13-15. All exhibit space has been sold, the program is completed, and we anticipate a large attendance. In fact, because this will be the last NEPPCO Convention with exhibits, attendance may be quite a bit larger than usual.

"Personally," he concluded, "I view this as the beginning of a promising new era for Northeastern poultrymen. We will now have more and better services available to us; we will be part of a national organization with more clout, more prestige, and more status; we will be served by a much larger staff headed by Institute President, Don Beaver; and we will have a headquarters in our own backyard - in Washington rather than Fairless Hills, but nonetheless still in NEPPCO land."

Don Beaver, president of PEIA stated, "We are pleased to welcome NEPPCO members into the Institute. It is absolutely necessary today to build stronger organizations, better staffed and financed, to do the job the industry expects and needs. NEPPCO members can give the Institute that added strength through membership support which will not only strengthen our government relations program, but will enable us to provide the industry with a wider variety of effective programs that will be beneficial to the industry and help give our members a reasonable return on their investments.

"I think NEPPCO members as well as the entire industry will like the Insitutute's new look when it moves its headquarters to Washington, a move that will create new services and programs that will be in line with industry's needs today," Beaver concluded.

Livestock hearing set

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Senator George McGovern (D-SD) and Senator Robert Dole (R-Kans) announced that they will hold oversight hearings before the full Senate Committee on Agriculture to examine the economic health of the livestock industry. The hearings are scheduled for October 10, 12, and 14.

The senators said that the three day hearing will be broad enough in scope to encompass all the economic factors which make up the production and marketing equation in the livestock industry including:

1. pricing and competition
2. management and marketing practices of ranchers and feeders
3. government regulations and grading practices
4. consumer demand as it relates to the beef cycle
5. the price spread between producer and consumer

"Our purpose is not to formulate legislation which will solve all the problems of the industry, but to focus some of the most intelligent thinking we can find on the desparate situation in which cattlemen find themselves with the object of perhaps seeking through self-help and improved production and marketing practices a way out," McGovern said.

FARM DRAINAGE IS A GOOD INVESTMENT

HERE ARE 10 REASONS WHY:

1. Better soil aeration results from good drainage. This permits deeper and more extensive root development and a more favorable environment for beneficial soil micro organisms and earthworms

2. Better soil moisture conditions with good drainage permit more efficient operation of tillage, planting and harvesting equipment. There is less chance of destroying soil tilth due to working soil when it is too wet.

3. Longer growing seasons can be achieved with good drainage due to earlier possible planting dates

4. An increased supply of nitrogen can be obtained from the soil where water tables are lowered by a drainage system

5. Soils warm up more quickly in the spring when free water is removed by a drainage system

6. Certain toxic substances and disease organisms are removed from the soil due to better drainage and better aeration

7. Soil erosion can be reduced on a well-drained soil by increasing its capacity to hold rainfall, resulting in less runoff

8. Deeper root development enables plants to better withstand summer droughts. High water tables in the spring due to poor drainage cause shallow root development and a smaller soil volume from which plants can obtain moisture and nutrients.

9. Valuable livestock water supplies are obtained by draining hillside seeps and piping the water to stock water tanks

10. Increased crop yields and improved crop quality result from favorable soil moisture conditions with good drainage

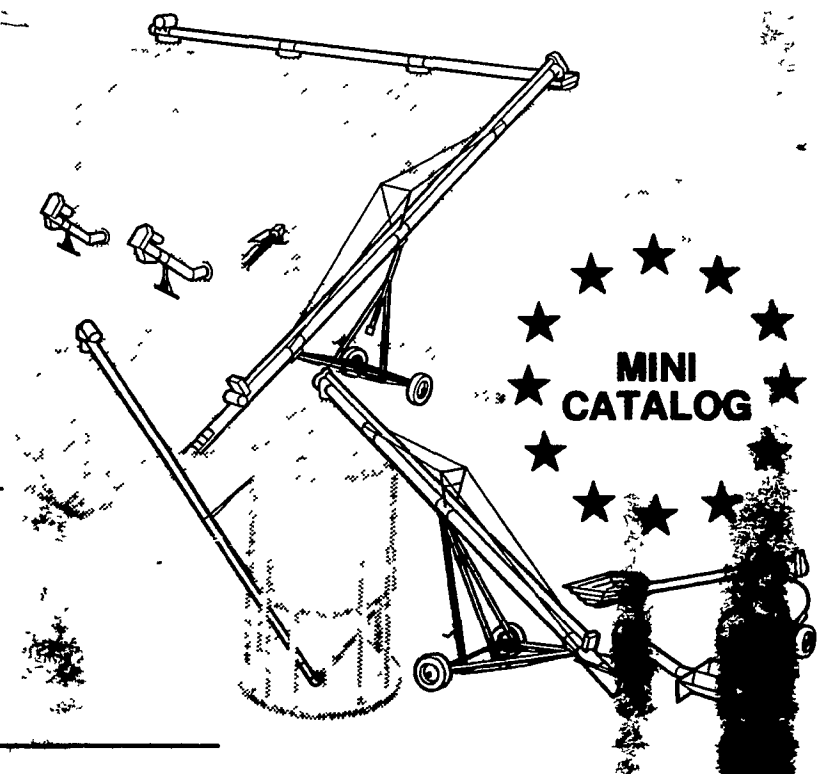
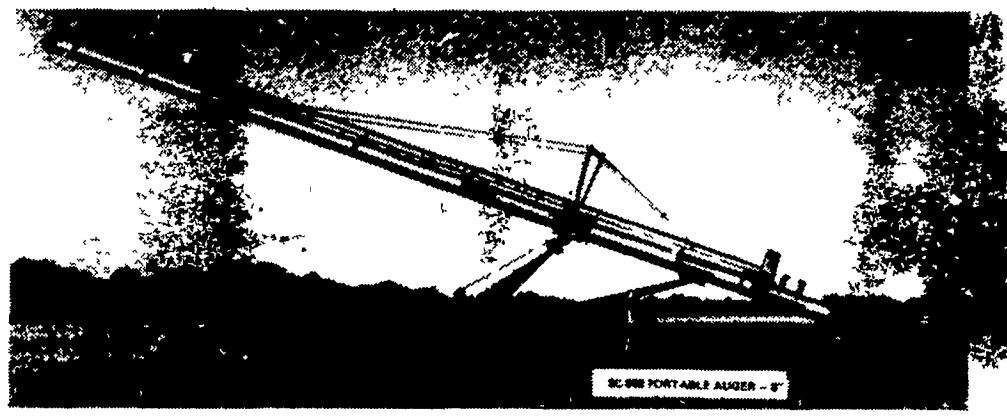
LET BAZOOKA® GRAIN MOVING SYSTEMS DO THE WORK!



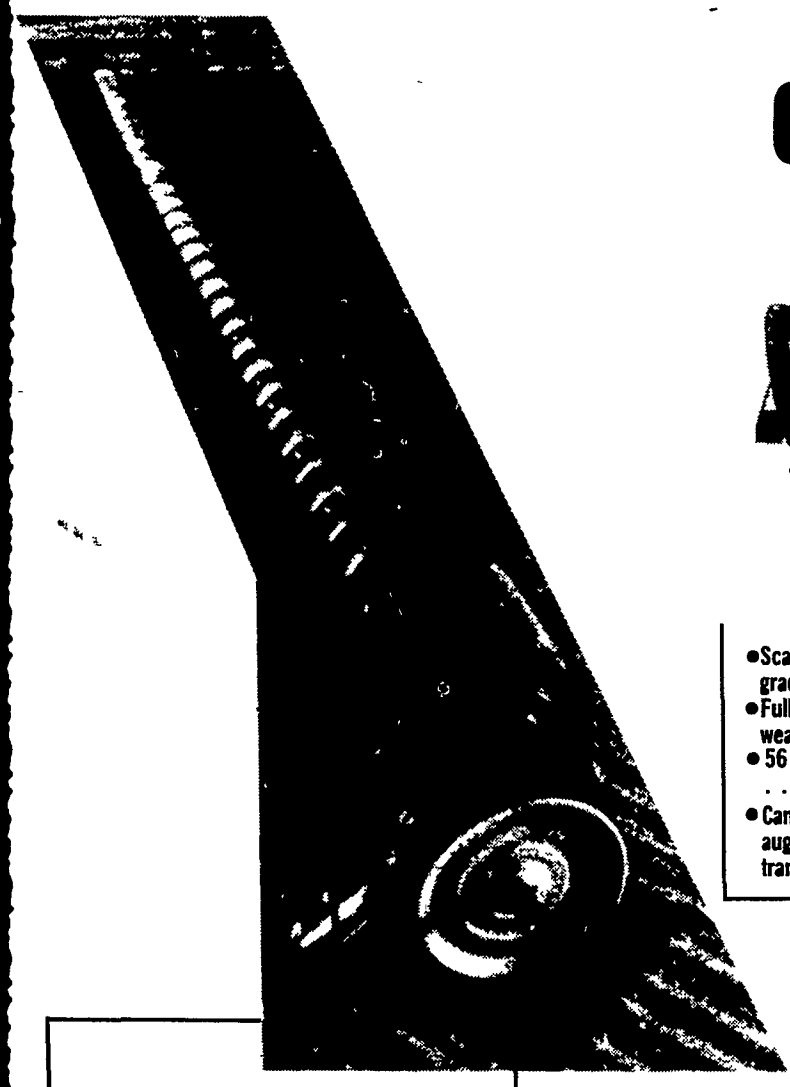
Components that move grain can be as important as the storage bins or drying bins you choose. Augers are the heart of your system because they do the work . . . keep you going during the busy harvest time.

Bazooka augers are long lasting and smooth running. You have a wide choice of capacities, accessories and drives. You can also expand any Bazooka system with a minimum of expense.

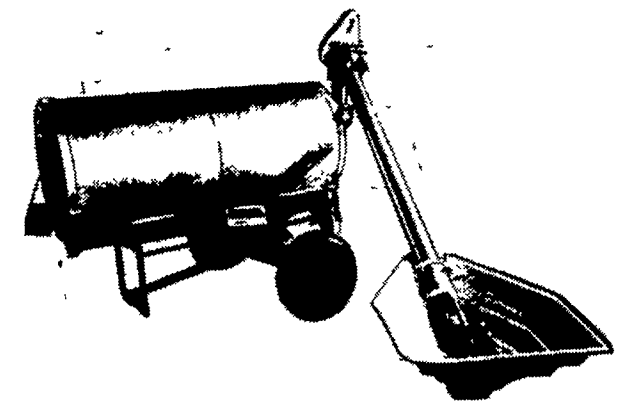


PORTABLE AUGERS

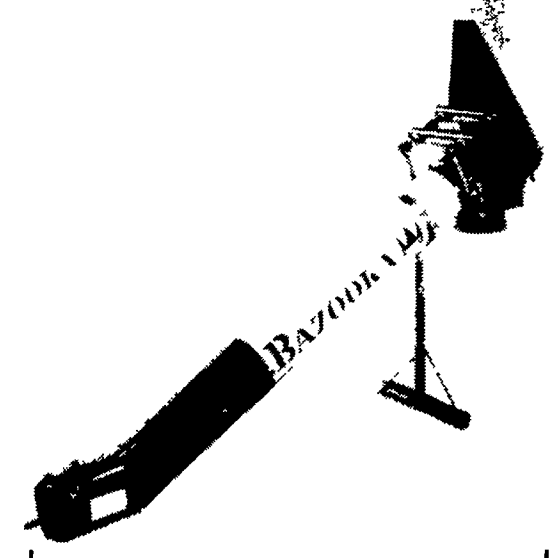
Bazooka 6" & 8" transports have intake flighting that is [illegible]ated to double its life, a galvanized drive shaft to reduce [illegible]nance time, and permanently lubricated chain in a pr[illegible]n[illegible]chined reducer drive with cast [illegible]a housing.



GRAINCLEAN'R™



- Scalps and cleans corn, milo, soybeans, wheat or rice to improve grade and storability
- Fully enclosed to prevent flying chaff, help control dust and give weather protection
- 56 sq. ft. of screen can remove 80% of fines in dry corn at 500 bu/hr . . . up to 2000 bu/hr capacity
- Can be equipped with trailer undercarrige, tow bar and 6" or 8" fill auger which swivels beyond 180° rides on top of cleaner during transport

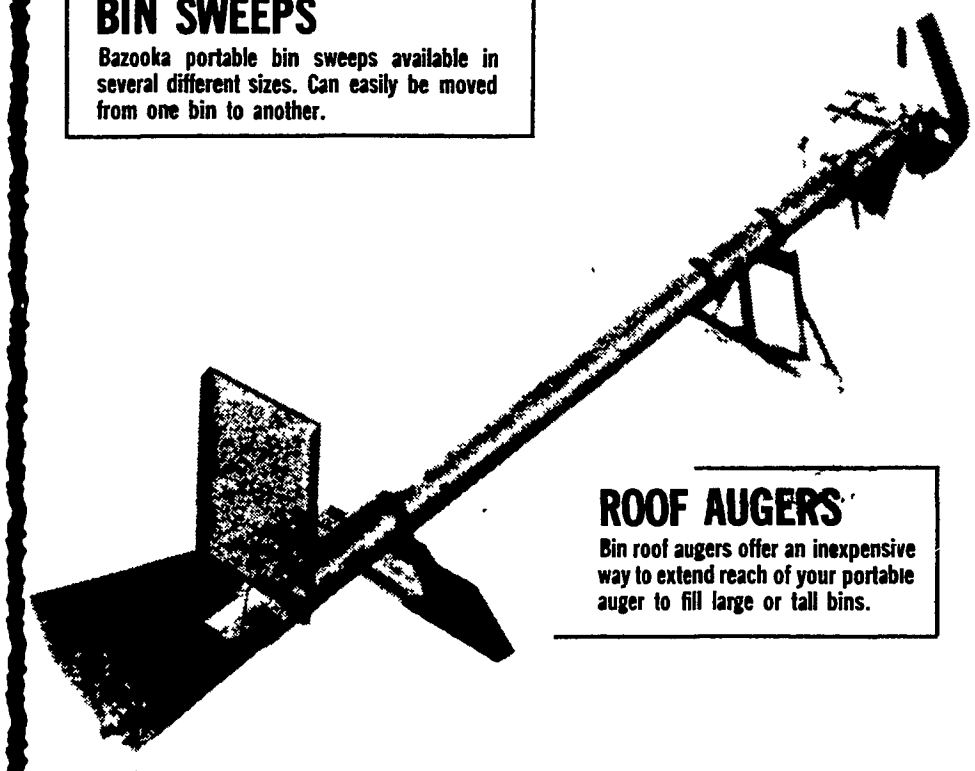


25° BIN UNLOADING AUGERS

A 6" horizontal powerhead is connected to an 8" auger to keep grain moving on the 25° incline as fast as it leaves the bin. 8" also available.

BIN SWEEPS

Bazooka portable bin sweeps available in several different sizes. Can easily be moved from one bin to another.



ROOF AUGERS

Bin roof augers offer an inexpensive way to extend reach of your portable auger to fill large or tall bins.

Sandy Miller crowned

position as a veterinary assistant. Grange, 4-H, and junior Holstein activities are included in the list of her activities.

Her love for the home farm and devotion to animals were still in Sandy's thoughts even while she was seated on the red velvet throne of the reigning princess.

"How are my calves?" she inquired of her family.

After being selected one of the seven semi-finalists during the ceremonies, Sandy was called first to answer in the random question portion of the competition. Asked what she would do if, while seated at the head table of a banquet, she saw the town mayor pour his glass of milk into a nearby potted plant, she paused only momentarily.

"I'd point out to him that the milk would not be doing the flowers much good, but that it would do him a great deal of good if he'd drink it instead," she replied.

During her upcoming year's reign, Sandy hopes to be able to reach people of all age groups, from kindergarteners to senior citizens, because she believes that they all need milk.

"Being chosen was really a surprise, and 'I'd like to thank everyone a lot! I'll do the very best job I can," Sandy told the audience of 700 dairy industry representatives.

First runner-up in the pageant was Tammy Sue Meabon, North East, representing Erie County. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Meabon, 17-year-old Tammy is a senior at Seneca High School. She's an honor roll student and a cheerleader, and was named to Who's Who among American high school students.

The random question Tammy pulled concerned how she would handle the problem of having a flat tire on a dark country road while dressed in a gown and headed for a dairy industry appearance. Her answer was that, while she might wait a few minutes to see if someone would stop to help her, she'd probably just try to change it herself.

Lancaster County's Twila Brubaker captured a double award. In addition to being named the second runner-up in the pageant, Twila won the coveted Miss Congeniality award, voted upon by the contestants themselves.

Eighteen-year-old Twila is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Brubaker, Manheim R2. A 1977 graduate of Manheim Central High School, she is currently in the student registered nursing program. Her activities include membership on both the homecoming court and the farm show queen court, and the yearbook staff.

Twila selected a question dealing with her response to a banquet waitress spilling chocolate milk on her dress just before she was to stand up to speak. In her answer, Twila indicated that, since everyone makes mistakes, she would simply explain to the audience that an accident had happened and not worry about it any further.

The four other county winners selected as semi-finalists were Deann Hillegass, Berlin R2, representing Somerset County; Cynthia Waltemyer, Collegeville, Montgomery County; Karen Sue Smith, Shippensburg R1, Cumberland County; and Kathleen Martin, Enon Valley R1, Beaver-Lawrence Counties.

Special awards for outstanding presentations were given to four of the contestants, who then performed the three-minute demonstrations during the program.

Scrapbook winners were Lydia Pifer, Reynoldsville R3, representing Jefferson County, and Kathy Hartle, Centre County's princess from Bellefonte R4. Linda Emigh, Shippensburg, and Renee McQuaide, Harrisburg, judged the scrapbook entries.

Grover Gouker, Jr., Lancaster, handled the emcee duties of the pageant, while Obie Snider, Imler, hosted the All-American portions of the program.

The Honorable Neal Buss, recently appointed deputy secretary of agriculture, brought greetings from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Fighting back tears, outgoing princess Peggy Staub said her farewells and thanks to the state dairy industry. She summed up her experiences, and recalled how she'll probably be remembered as the princess who entered many milking contests and lost all of them.

The dairy princess pageant is coordinated by state committee chairman J. Robert Morris, and dairy promotion supervisor Joyce Groff. District coordinators are Barbara Gross, Emlenton R2; Rita Kennedy, Butler R6; Beverly Minor, Washington R2; Pat Miller, Linglestown R4; Judy Diebold, Altoona R3; Joanne Peifer, Canton R1, and Mim Kauffman, Elizabethtown R1.

What's Les Houck, a Lancaster County tractor puller, doing with a regular tire on his hot-rod tractor? The answer is that the regular pulling tires are way too big to leave on the tractor if you're planning on shipping the machine to Europe. Houck's tractor, and another owned by Stauffer Diesel of New Holland, were sent to Holland recently to entertain European tractor pulling enthusiasts during the World Plowing Contests, to be held there this coming week. Dauphin County's Frank Kocevar, 73, will represent the United States in the plowing contests.

Milk class featured at fair

LAMPETER - An unusual class featured at the W. Lampeter Community Fair is the milk division, where each contestant enters two glass pint bottles of milk, one to be judged, the other for display.

The class is open to any milk producer in Lancaster County, and the milk is judged on its flavor, odor, visible dirt, fat, and acidity. The milk to be judged is taken to the Queen Dairy and this year was judged by Robert Rinier, the Queen Dairy director of quality control.

This year there were two division of entrees, Holstein milk and Guernsey milk, with a total of 15 samples entered. In the Holstein class, blue ribbon winner was Mike Shertzer, Lancaster, Pa., and in the Guernsey division, the top winner was Ken Garber, Willow Street R2, Pa.

Complete results of the class follow:

Holstein: 1. Mike Shertzer, Lancaster; 2. Darrell Martin, Lampeter; 3. Furrey Frey and Sons, Lancaster; 4. Robert Kindig, Conestoga, R1; 5. Randy Houser, Lampeter; 6. Nelson Sangrey, Lancaster; 7. Gordon Sangrey, Lancaster; 8. John H. Groff, Lancaster; 9. Glenn Book, Lancaser; 10. Elvin Hess, Conestoga R1.

Guernsey: 1. Ken Garber, Willow Street R2; Tamara Breneman, Strasburg R1.

Penna. farms take Guernsey titles

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania farms fared well in judging in the Guernsey cattle classes which opened Wednesday's events at the 14th Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in the Farm Show complex.

Pennsylvania entries captured the major titles in bull competition and the senior and grand championships in female competition in the afternoon. Eugenia C. Madiera of the Crumdale Farm, Berwyn, Chester County, was named the premier breeder for the All-American Guernsey Show for the second straight year.

"Co-Hill Farms T H Big Tex," a senior yearling bull exhibited by the Atlantic Breeders Coop in Lancaster was named the champion bull. "Tex" was bred by Joseph and Louis Fava of Co-Hill Farms, Scenery Hill, Washington County. The reserve champion bull, another senior yearling, "Brookwood Sir Lancelot," was exhibited by Russell Subject and David Resch of the Brookwook Farm, Brookville, Jefferson County.

"Happy Hill AFC Lorna," a 4-year-old dry cow, was named the senior and grand champion female Guernsey. "Lorna" was exhibited by Donald Moran of South Penn Farms, New Enterprise. Reserve senior and grand champion female was "Clearbranch Prince Petula," another four-year-old exhibited by Cloverland Farms Dairy, Inc., of Phoenix, Maryland.

The junior champion female, "Fra-Hib Saphires Soc Bernice," was a senior yearling heifer exhibited by the Fra-Hib Guernsey Farm, Wawaka, Indiana. Penn Del Farms, Willow Street, showed the reserve junior champion female, a senior heifer calf named "Bo Joy W Babs."

Premier exhibitor for the show was Cloverland Farms Dairy, Inc., of Phoenix, Maryland. Premier sire honors went to "Lyrene May Rose Prince," from Select Sires, Inc., of Columbus, Ohio.

The reserve champion Guernsey belonged to Cloverland Farms Dairy of Phoenix, Md.

Mary Ann Witmer and the reserve junior champion at the Guernsey show.

Eastern refutes

false and grossly misleading statements.

One such statement which misinformed the public was - "Two former directors who have resigned in disgust". Harold Rotz of Waynesboro, Pa, one of the directors referred to in the article "Eastern In Trouble, ex-directors say," in a later conversation with Eastern's general manager, refuted the statemnt and said, "I am not an ex-director". Rotz was very upset at this point.

In another, it was printed that Eastern "may be heading down a road towards financial insolvency". According to Rotz, this was a misquote, and that what he actually said was "Eastern Milk Producers had financial problems". Max Lonstein, treasurer of Eastern, stressed that Eastern Milk Producers is solvent. Only because of the vast amounts of dairy products in storage has Eastern experienced as cash flow problem. No member's milk check is in jeopardy and the cooperative is not in debt.

The only defector from Eastern's policy-making body, and the other director to whom many of these statements were attributed, was Harold Billings from Vermont. He alledgedly said that Eastern was "forcing them (buyers) to pay inflated prices". McDonald charged that this is ridiculous and Billings and the entire dairy industry know it. Billing's remark that "the members are getting ripped off", was also labeled in the same manner by McDonald.

Rotz, who did not hand in his resignation was disturbed over the article's quote "they better turn things around soon" What I did say was that Eastern can turn things around and solve its financial problems," informed Rotz. He also stated that he told the news service that the principle cause of Eastern's problems was surplus milk, not Board policy as reported in the story.

The statement, "An organization cannot run rampant over its members", which the article said Billings made, evidently pertains to some of Billings' current activities in the State of Vermont, noted Eastern's president, Arden Tewksbury.

The Cooperative leader said that people who are trying to divide and injure present cooperatives are playing a very dangerous game with the destiny of dairy farmers - they should be prepared to answer for the resulting chaos and injury they may cause.

Our Naturmin M42 G minerals out of a mine deposit are doing so good we get them by the car load, and need the railroad siding. Besides getting famous for all kinds of livestock, they are excellent to supply missing elements in the soil for larger healthier crops with less fertilizer. Releases nutrients in the soil. Loosens the ground, and resulting crops are healthier and better for livestock. Takes less feed. Apply on pasture and hay fields also. Use it in the fall for best results next year.

CLEAN ALFALFA WITHOUT SPRAYING plus high yields in the history of our soil conditioners and seed treatments for several years, with very little or no fertilizer except manure. Same for corn and grain. Get started to condition the soil, Fall is best. Dealers are wanted in other areas.

Countian Daniel Hunsberger had a fouth in the class.

A class of 13 senior yearlings saw Perry County's Brian Rock of Landisburg check in with the secon-place entry. Bruce and Kathy Rhein of Pine Grove, were third and fourth, respectively.

First place ribbons continued to elude 4-H'ers and FFA-er from this area in the 2-year old class. Dawn Ridinger from Biglerville had the second-place animal, to be the only individual from this part of the state to break into the top six. The best anyone from this area did in three and four year olds was an eighth place by Kathie Rhein from Pine Grove. Fourteen cows were shown in that contest. Craig Rhein, Pine Grove, showed the third-place aged cow, leaving J. Curry Wagner with a fourth.

champion female, "Innisfail Princess 179th," a senior yearling heifer. Another Sandy River Farm entry, "Sandy River Molly," a senior heifer calf, was awarded reserve junior championship honors.

The grand champion bull was "Innisfail Promise 63rd," a 3-year-old exhibited by the Sandy River Farm. "Promise," also named senior champion, won the same award at last year's show. Sandy River Farm's "Sandy River Larry," a bull calf, was named reserve grand champion and junior champion bull.

The reserve senior champion bull, 4-year-old "Hutchinson's Promise Duke," was exhibited by the Hutchinson Farm, Dixfield, Maine. Pinesedge Farms, showed the reserve junior champion bull, "Kingsdale Rosie's Prince," a bull calf.

The premier sire award went to "Tabbagong Flora's Prince," from Australia. The All-American Milking Shorthorn Show was judged by John A. Sims of Shawano, Wisconsin.

4-H week

4-H projects and activities are supervised by nearly 10,000 county agricultural, home economics, and 4-H agents. These extension professionals are assisted by more than 570,000 volunteers - adults, teens and juniors - who give leadership to local clubs, special interest groups and other activities.

The private sector, represented by thousands of businesses, foundations and individuals, contributes financial and technical assistance at local, county, state and national levels to help strengthen and expand the 4-H program.

Twenty-two and four-tenths per cent of 4-H members now live on farms, and an approximately equal percentage (22.7 per cent) live in suburbs and cities of more than 50,000 population. Thirty-eight and four-tenths per cent live in towns of less than 10,000 population, and 16.5 per cent in towns and cities of 10,000 to 50,000.

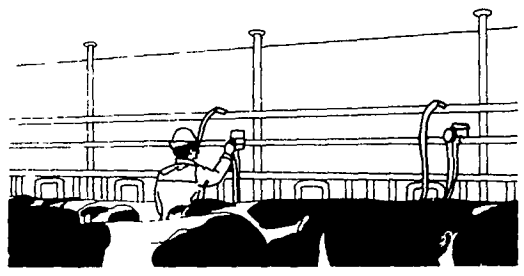
1977 marks the 75th anniversary of the youth education movement that was to become 4-H. Around the turn of the century, school superintendents and teachers in many different places saw the need for supplementing the traditional "Three R's" of the one-room rural school with practical, real-life training for farm youth. In 1902, young people began to meet in informal groups, or clubs to experiment with corn and hog raising, soil testing, vegetable and flower gardening, and home canning.

Formal provision for boys' and girls' club work, later to be called "4-H," was made in the Smith-Lever Act of 1914, which established the Extension Service.

Five 4-H features can be found in this week's Lancaster Farming.

AGWAY

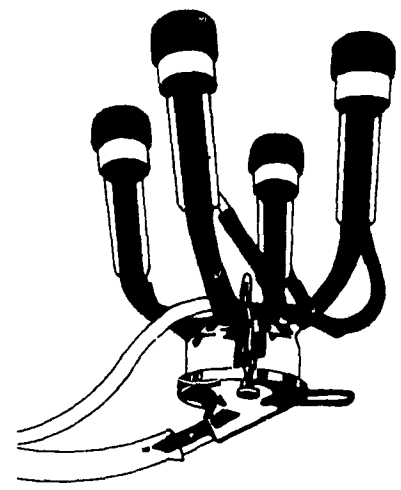
HEADQUARTERS FOR MILKING EQUIPMENT



Give up lugging milk forever!

Agway Pipeline System

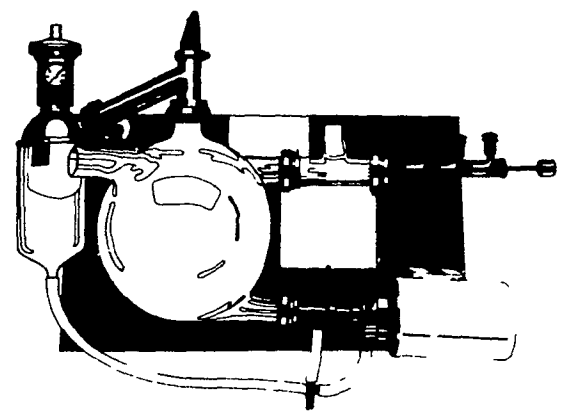
- Pumps milk from stanchion to bulk cooler automatically
- Helps maintain milk quality and reduce bacteria count because milk cools faster
- Reduces costly manhours



See precisely when to remove teat cups!

Universal full view milker

Transparent polysulfone cluster allows you to see milk leaving each teat. You never over-milk because you see milk flow. Large size reduces vacuum fluctuation. Saves time, too.

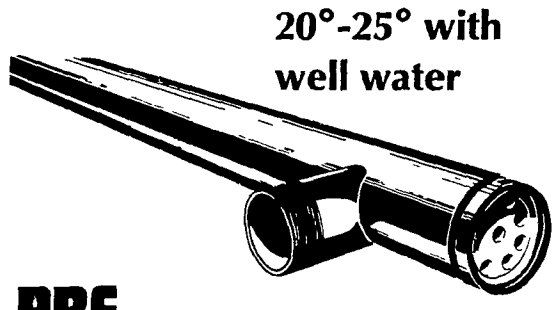


The panel with built-in convenience

Universal full-control milkhouse panel

- Easy to maintain, operate and clean
- Controls switch from "milk" to "wash" in seconds for fast, thorough pipeline cleaning
- Automatic self-drain for complete drainage

Cool milk from 20°-25° with well water



PRE-COOLING SYSTEM by Top Line

The pre-cooler from Top Line uses well water to cool milk from 20-25 degrees in line before it hits the tank. This in-line pre-cooler can cut compressor time in half, reduce power costs by taking the strain off your condensing unit and relieves the refrigeration load on your bulk tank. Easy to clean in place and easy to install. Sized to fit your system.

harvested and some growers are pushed for sufficient storage; too many have old corn left from last year. The making of the crop into silage is one of the very best means of harvesting maximum feed nutrients. Many acres of ear corn will be stored in the usual cribs and in most cases will continue to dry out with natural air movement. Many growers get into trouble with their shelled corn and the attempt to store it properly. Most shelled corn needs some supplemental heat to aid in the drying process; this should be followed by a cooling process during the fall and winter Through the use of air ducts and fans, the air can be pushed through the corn to prevent heating and moding. All areas should be rodent proofed in order to keep rat and mice damage to a minimum.

EPHRATA - Champions in the dairy shows at the Ephrata Fair last Friday belonged to Paul Horning, Stevens, who exhibited both grand and reserve grand Holsteins. Both were sired by Elevation. Horning, a perennial contender for top honors at the Ephrata Fair, as well as other regional and even state shows, is in his last year as an FFA'er.

Other first-place winners in the Holstein show were Sheryl Bollinger, Dennis Strohm, Phil Crouse, and Kevin Smoker.

Carol Balmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Balmer, Lititz R4, pulled the same trick in the Guernsey show as Horning did in the Holstein event by taking both top titles. Others to win first places in the contest were Connie Balmer, Clarence Weaver, and Harry Kreiser.

Winners in the Ayrshire show were Joyce Gerhart, James Groff, Jay Gerhart and Dennis Martin. Martin and Joyce Groff had the champion and reserve champion, respectively.

Kerry Boyd, Ephrata, repeated for yet another year as champion with the Brown Swiss, while Dave Gerhart took all the honors with his Jerseys.

Judges for the show were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kauffman of Elizabethtown.

Her idea of 'houseplants' is 675 greenhouse tomatoes

By SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Feature Writer

Right now many housewives are collecting cuttings and plants from outside flower beds to bring them into their homes. These ladies are storing up for long Winter days when a pot of growing, and possibly even flowering, plants will brighten home and heart. Lucille Wenger, however, will have plenty of plants to keep her busy during this Winter - 675 to be exact. They are not the typical assortment of houseplants and they are not particularly her own idea of a nice Wintertime hobby. In actuality, Mrs. Wenger will be tending hundreds of greenhouse-grown tomato plants.

The reason Mrs. Wenger will be nurturing these plants and another set just like them after Christmas is due to her husband, Glenn's, wish to have "a diversion for his hours away from his occupation," as Mrs. Wenger explained it Glenn is a chief area engineer at Armstrong Cork Company in Lancaster and has always enjoyed "toying" with some project at his home in New Providence R1 after working hours and on weekends.

Last year, the Wengers purchased a 24 by 100 foot sheet plastic and metal pipe greenhouse kit, put it together and grew their first crop this past Spring They planted at Christmas time in 1976 and picked a good crop from late April through the end of July. The crop growing now was planted by seed on the Fourth of July and will probably begin to bear ripe fruit early in November

Glenn enjoys the challenge of regulating growing conditions inside the greenhouse by adjusting fertilizer, heat, water, and insecticide applications. He also manages the marketing of the produce. Cille watches over the operation when Glenn is at work, and takes care of much of the day-to-day handling of the plants

Lancaster Farming spoke to Mrs Wenger recently to find out what happens and what has to be done in order to raise vine-ripened tomatoes in greenhouses

The greenhouse, itself, is a structure built from an "expensive kit" as Cille describes it. It is made with metal pipe which supports two layers of heavy plastic sheeting. A fan circulates air between the two layers of plastic several inches apart from each other in order to form an insulating barrier to the cold outside. Within the greenhouse are five rows of growing bins. These are actually double rows with two rows of tomatoes to each bin. The bins resemble shallow, long, narrow troughs which run the length of the greenhouse.

After the plants sprout in jiffy-7 pots and are transplanted into five-inch peat pots, the Wengers set them into the growing bins 16 inches apart down the rows. They place plants alternately in the double rows so that two plants are not growing directly across from each other. Once the several hundred plants are placed into the growing medium in the bins, they must be provided with a string to grow upon. Rather than stake the plants, the Wengers twist the plants around strings which eventually reach a height of 10 or 12 feet. The strings are attached to individual tomato plants at the bin surface and looped up over a wire eight feet above the bin. An additional four feet of string is looped over the wire to be let down gradually after picking begins and growing continues at the top of the vine.

In order to eliminate unnecessary foliage which robs nutrients otherwise put into quality-sized fruit, these vines must be suckered constantly. All the leaves on the vine below the first cluster of tomatoes must be pinched off. All growth between the cluster stem and vine must be removed, often several times because it occasionally grows back. The resulting plant is a sturdy, dark green vine perhaps an inch in diameter, as much as 12 feet high with few leaves and as many as 12 clusters of tomatoes.

Even with vines only five or six feet tall, the house looks full. An additional five feet of vine per plant and large bunches of fruit will make it the "jungle" Cille describes it to be.

Getting these vines up the strings and producing fruit, however, requires a daily trip up and down the double rows twisting the vines around the strings and shaking the plants to cause the blossoms to pollinate. Suckering, pinching off extra growth, is a continuous task as long as the plants produce fruit.

Right now Cille spends "an hour or so" a day in the greenhouse, as she explains it. In November she will be spending more hours each day pollinating and picking and packing the ripe fruit. After the first, lower, cluster of tomatoes has been picked, she has to let the strings down gradually to allow for more vine growth and setting more clusters at the top of the vine During peak production, Cille will spend over three hours a day in the greenhouse

Mrs. Wenger said she picked as much as 410 pounds of tomatoes in a day last Spring. She picks every day and places them into cardboard produce cartons or wooden cherry boxes. The Wengers then store the tomatoes in the cellar of their home. Glenn delivers the tomatoes, on his way to work, to a local produce market on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday mornings.

Glenn Wenger also sees to it that the proper nutrients, heat, and water are available to the plants. Fertilizers and trace elements are obtained through a firm in Alabama which acts as consultants to vegetable growers as well as manufacturers of these greenhouses. The chemicals are dissolved in water, 100 parts water to one part fertilizer, and carried to the root systems via a seep-hose system which lies on top of the growing medium in the bins.

Watering requires much attention to outside weather conditions as well as to growth stages of the plants themselves and the temperature and humidity within the greenhouse. If the weather is overcast for several days watering is done sparsely; conversely, if the weather is sunny and hot, watering may be needed three times a day. Cille says it is better to water a little at a time and often rather than a lot only once a day. The greenhouse is constructed over a gravel floor rather than sealed concrete and a special humidity control door at one end assist in proper moisture levels. Last Spring Mrs. Wenger said they did not increase the water enough at one point in growth to support the fourth or fifth cluster of tomatoes so they fell off. As a result, later in the season, she picked only 35 pounds every other day rather than 150 pounds a day.

Lucille Wenger and her son Blaine check for suckers on the half grown vines in the greenhouse. This extra growth must be pinched off for best results with the tomato plants.

Heat is provided in the house by two 120,000 BTU LP gas furnaces which blow warm air through collapsible plastic ducts with air holes spaced throughout their length. These heat ducts and the watering

My Thoughts.....And welcome to them

By JOANNE SPAHR
Assistant Editor

"Get a horse," I grumbled to myself, slamming down the hood of the car as an exclamation point.

Bullfeathers There I stood, on that chilly September evening, watching the stream of red tail lights flow past me as they left the fairgrounds for home How come they were all getting free, heading for a warm bed, while I, ace ag reporter, was standing there, forlorn, at the mercy of Frank, my police car It wasn't fair, I rationalized, I didn't deserve this cruel and indecent punishment.

"Rats on ya!" I yelled out loud at all the lucky ones packed cozily in their cars heading for home In the smooth velvet sky, the stars twinkled at me in mock laughter

"How have I gotten myself into this fix?" I asked again and again

It was all Dad's fault, I concluded after about 20 minutes of mulling it over. If he hadn't given up on me at the age of 15, I might be heading home right now

But, then, of course, it probably was a little frustrating for Dad when, after explaining for the sixth time how a spark plug worked, he looked down at his darling, but slightly stupid, daughter only to have her screw up her eyebrows, wrinkle her nose, and grunt "Ha?"

So, there I was, at the mercy of Frank, the pooped police car, without a single idea of what makes a car "go", except gas, of course

Through my muddled thoughts, I noticed the sound of somebody pounding out the dented fender of a nearby car. Although only his feet showed from under the mass of metal, he looked like a real mechanical genius to me, so I made a beeline for the pounding sound.

Junior Cooking Edition

This week's recipes feature more good things to eat, especially for desserts or snacks. If the weather outside is cold and rainy, why not use the time to create something that will taste good and be fun to make?

If you have sent a recipe in to the Junior Cooking Edition, and it hasn't been in the paper yet, don't worry. Right now we are getting many recipes, so it will take a little while for them to all appear in the paper.

Meanwhile, keep those favorite recipes coming to Junior Cooking Edition, Lancaster Farming, Box 266, Lititz, Pa., 17543. Remember to include directions to the recipe, your name, age, address, and phone number.

SOUTHERN PECAN PIE

3 eggs
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups dark corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
dash of salt
1 cup pecan halves

Mix all ingredients, except pecans. Pour into nine inch pie crust. Sprinkle with pecans. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes or until done.

CARROT CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups carrots, finely shredded
1 cup cooking oil
4 eggs
¼ cup chopped nuts

Sift together sugar, flour, baking soda, baking powder, cinnamon, and salt. Add carrots, oil, and eggs. Mix until moistened, about two minutes at medium speed. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9 inch pan and bake at 325 degrees F. for 50 to 60 minutes. Cool thoroughly and spread with cream cheese frosting and sprinkle with nuts.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

1 3 oz. package of cream cheese
¼ cup butter
2 cups confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soften cream cheese and butter, beat together until fluffy. Slowly add confectioners sugar and beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Mix well. Spread on cooled cake. Sprinkle top with nuts.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

For many years now, I've been noticing how different people bear their burdens - be they family problems or health problems or whatever.

Some folks keep things to themselves and meditate and hopefully pray to God for guidance and strength. As time goes on they somehow reach a solution to their situation, without letting the whole world know of their dilemma.

Others voice loud and long the equally disagreeable alternatives which they face. I've had relatives visit in my home and also visited in the homes of friends where I was forced to listen to one - half hour of a non-stop one-sided conversation which dealt with their condition. I've even been visited in a hospital, after a serious operation several years ago, by a person who harangued me with her problems in dealing with a husband and son feud. She didn't want advice - just someone to listen to her talk. After she finally left, I was wringing wet from nervous prostration.

I hope I've helped these people by listening (at a time when I needed listening to myself) but I've about decided that next time, I'll speak up and say "enough" without taking so much punishment.

Along with many other gardeners, I've been faced with an abundance of zucchini this year. I planted two tiny seeds at the edge of the garden and after bearing a few squash, the one died. The other promptly decided to make up for this by bearing one each day for weeks. The plant is 15 feet by 15 feet. We've tried a lot of new recipes this year and also frozen some.

The other day the men in the family solved the problem of what to do with so many zucchini. They planned a route and chased eight heifers from the upper meadow, through the fields, and through my garden into the lower meadow. They insisted it was the best course to travel with the excitable animals.

Plant lovers' corner

DOVER, Del. - The countryside will soon be ablaze with the brilliant colors of autumn foliage. As frosts wither and brown gardens, University of Delaware Extension garden specialist Dave Tatnall suggests taking a cue and cashing in on nature's colorful Fall celebration. The best way a home owner can do this is to include in his landscape some of the many ornamental trees and shrubs which have eye-catching foliage at this time of the year.

The following is a list of deciduous trees and shurbs which Tatnall recommends for this purpose. Besides providing outstanding autumn interest, they have excellent ornamental value at other seasons.

Recommended trees are - Flowering Dogwood - red leaves in Fall; Sourwood - scarlet; Gray ("Clump") Birch - yellow leaves, which contrast nicely with its white bark; Sweet Gum - red, yellow or purple foilage; Whte Ash - deep purple and yellow; Norway Maple - yellow; Sugar Maple - brilliant yellow, orange, and red foliage (makes a really outstanding display); Scarlet Oak - scarlet.

Recommended shrubs are - Royal Azalea - yellow, orange and red leaves; Japanese Barberry - scarlet; Blueberry - scarlet; Redvein Enkianthus - orange to scarlet foliage; Winged Euonymus - deep red to brilliant scarlet foliage (one of the best); Spicebush - yellow; Doublefile Viburnum - deep red to purple; Common Witch-hazel - yellow.

Check out these and other plants this Fall while they're actually showing their autumn colors. Late October or November is the time to plant them. To get an idea of how they look in the landscape, check out public parks and gardens, as well as your neighbor's backyard. You'll even see some growing in the wild.

Many of these handsome foliage plants are available at local nurseries and garden centers.

Grange meets

VIRGINVILLE - The Virginville Grange met recently with the following items being discussed.

During the school season, all meetings of the grange will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Grange is sponsoring a trip to Wheeling, West Virginia, on April 1, 1978. Furthur plans will be announced as the date approaches.

It was announced that James Schlegel was a first place talent winner at a talent contest held recently in Bernville. Schlegel will compete in the regional talent contest to be held in Kutztown.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

Well, I really blew it this time.

I missed a meeting!

"So what?" you ask. "As many meetings as you go to, how could one more possibly matter?"

Honestly, this meeting was really important! You see, it was to finalize plans for the first statewide convention of a brand new farm women's organization for Pennsylvania, Penn's Agri-Women.

Now, our husbands (fathers, brothers) do a terrific job of providing this country with the most plentiful, wholesome and inexpensive food in the entire world. But when it comes to tending to cultivating the public about farm problems, promotion and solving mutual concerns - well, sometimes the weeds have tangled up the patch.

Penn's Agri-Women doesn't claim to have all the answers; only you can supply those. Therefore, we'd like your input and ideas if:

- you're a person vitally interested in the survival of agriculture, especially if you're a farmer's wife;

- you're interested in seeing our family farms maintain a place in the farming future;

- you're interested in providing the most and best food in the world;

- you're willing to promote agriculture and tell the farmer's story;

- you want to learn more about your place in solving these concerns.

Agriculture in Pennsylvania, and in America, needs your help. So, join us on October 18 at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, Camp Hill. Registration begins at 9 a.m. with the program to start at 10 a.m. Two prominent women in agriculture, Laura Heuser of Michigan, and Gail McPherson of Pennsylvania, are featured speakers. And since we're mothers, too, we'll be wrapping it up at 3 p.m.

Reservations are still available, but RUN, DON'T WALK to your mailbox. The cover charge of $6.50 includes luncheon. Send your reservations fee, name and address to Mrs. Harold Gross, R2, Box 439, Manchester, Pa. 17345. (And, if you live in a nearby state, and are interested, please come!)

Nicely tell your farmer that on October 18 he can wash the milkers, feed the hogs, gather the eggs and create a gourmet sandwich for his own lunch. (Remind him that you're doing this to help assure him of a farming future.)

Come-and plant a seed toward the harvest of a future crop of better rural understanding.

Grange picks young married couple

HARRISBURG- Mr and Mrs. Richard Mangel, Butler, have been named the Pennsylvania State Grange's 1977-78 young married couple. They will succeed Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Gallimore, of Gettysburg, R3.

As the 1976-77 young married couple, the Gallimores will compete at the National Grange convention in Greensboro, N.C., Nov. 19, 1977 for the national young married couple title. Mr. and Mrs. Mangel will compete for national honors at next year's National Grange Convention in Colorado.

The Mangels are members of Eureka Grange and Butler Pomona Grange, both of Butler County and regional representatives on the State Grange Young Married committee. Mangel is treasurer of Eureka Grange, assistant steward of Butler Pomona Grange and also is chairman of the Butler Pomona committee for hosting the State Grange convention in Butler in 1978.

His wife is lecturer and women's activities chairman of Eureka Grange, lady assistant steward of Butler Pomona Grange, serves on the Pomona women's activities committee and on the fund raising committee for hosting the State Grange convention next year.

The Mangels have two children, Danny, six years old, and Kelly, three.

4-H club meets

LITITZ - The Broken Bit 4-H Horse and Pony Club of Lancaster County met September 23 at the home of Daphne and Brian Immel. Business discussed was a possible trip to Scream In The Dark or a hayride.

Alida Farrington and Lisa Edson were elected to be news reporters and be in charge of putting together next years 4-H scrapbook.

Congratulations were given to Daphne Immel and Rick Buckwalter for qualifing at the 4-H district horse show for the state horse show. The next meeting will be held at the home of Dee Dee Rice on October 12.

Last week a flu bug was wandering around and decided to get me, so as a result, I ended up going home from the office early one day, to get some much needed rest and recuperation.

When I got home, nobody was there, so without further ado, I trudged wearily up the stairs, crawled into bed, and fell asleep to dream blissfully of sunny weather for fair seasons.

About two hours later, I was awakened by a phone ringing. I pulled myself from the bed, stumbling over to the next room, which is used as an office Falling into a chair, I picked up the old black phone on the desk, and mumbled hello. Dead silence. Well, not complete silence....a phone was still ringing somewhere, but it was pretty obvious that it wasn't the one in my hand.

Now there is only one phone line into our house, and only supposed to be one phone in that area. In my half asleep, pill-drowzy state, none of this made any sense.

I pulled myself out of the chair and wandered through the next doorway into the sewing room. Aha! The ringing noise was definitely coming from somewhere in this room.

There on the porch roof, outside the back window, was a ringing phone. Sure enough the storm window was down tight and had to be raised before I could get to that cold precise devise that was causing me all this grief I dragged the phone in, it stopped ringing Such is life.

Later, when my mother appeared, I asked her if she knew anything about a phone on the roof. Sheepishly, she smiled, and said she had put it out there so she'd hear it while working outside. Obviously, she had forgotten to bring it back in again

And people ask me if it's boring living in the country.

New horse club forming

NORRISTOWN – A new 4-H Horse Science Club is forming in the Collegeville area and invites any boy or girl ages eight to 19 to join. The organizational meeting will be held October 4, 7:30 p.m. at the Sebastian Riding Associates facilities located on Water Street Road in Collegeville, West of Grange Avenue.

The club is for youth who are interested in learning about horses but for various reasons do not own a horse. Members will have the opportunity for "hands-on" practical experience working with horses and ponies to learn about grooming, management, and safety. Additional topics include breeds and breeding, lamenesses, feeding and basic nutrition, care of tack and much more.

Members are expected to attend their meetings and complete their project books. Completion of these requirements will enable 4-H'ers to receive award ribbons, certificates and year pins.

For additional information, contact Nancy Kadwill, County Agent at the 4-H office 215-277-0574. For directions, contact Mrs. Bannie Stewart at Sebastian Riding Associates.

hoses lie on the top of the soil in the bins, right at the base of the vines.

When bright sun raises the temperature above 94 degrees in the greenhouse, an automatic switch activates two large fans placed in the one end of the house. These fans draw in cool air from the cooling tower, a system of louvered doors at the other end of the house, and blow out the hot air.

The temperature ideally should be 75 degrees during the day and 60 degrees at night, Mrs. Wenger explained.

"It's really a nice place to work in the Winter because it is so warm," she commented. "In the morning though, it is too wet. I usually wait until the afternoon to work here. By then it has dried off a lot."

Mrs. Wenger wears long sleeved shirts and slacks when working in the house despite the warmth because the plants stain skin and clothing. Since she has to brush against the plants constantly as she sorts through the vines to pick the fruit, she wears a set of old work clothes specifically for the greenhouse work.

Glenn and Lucille Wenger have four children, Blaine, seven; Ashley, six; Emily, five; and Kyle, one. Mrs. Wenger times her work hours in the greenhouse to coincide with school schedules and naps. Blaine has allergies which prohibit having plants in their home, but his mother has all the plants she needs in the greenhouse.

Mrs. Glenn Wenger will be spending several hours a day this Winter in a warm greenhouse and pick several thousand pounds of ripe tomatoes in doing so. That certainly beats watching African Violets die and ferns dry up!

On a seasonally adjusted annual rate, the dollar value of all commercial and industrial construction rose by 4.3 per cent in June to an estimated $21.9 billion, according to the National Association of Realtors' Department of Economics and Research.

How Does Your Attic Measure Up?

Years ago, if you had 2 or 3 inches of insulation in your attic, you probably had enough.

But times have changed. The days of cheap energy are over and now even 6 inches of attic insulation isn't considered adequate.

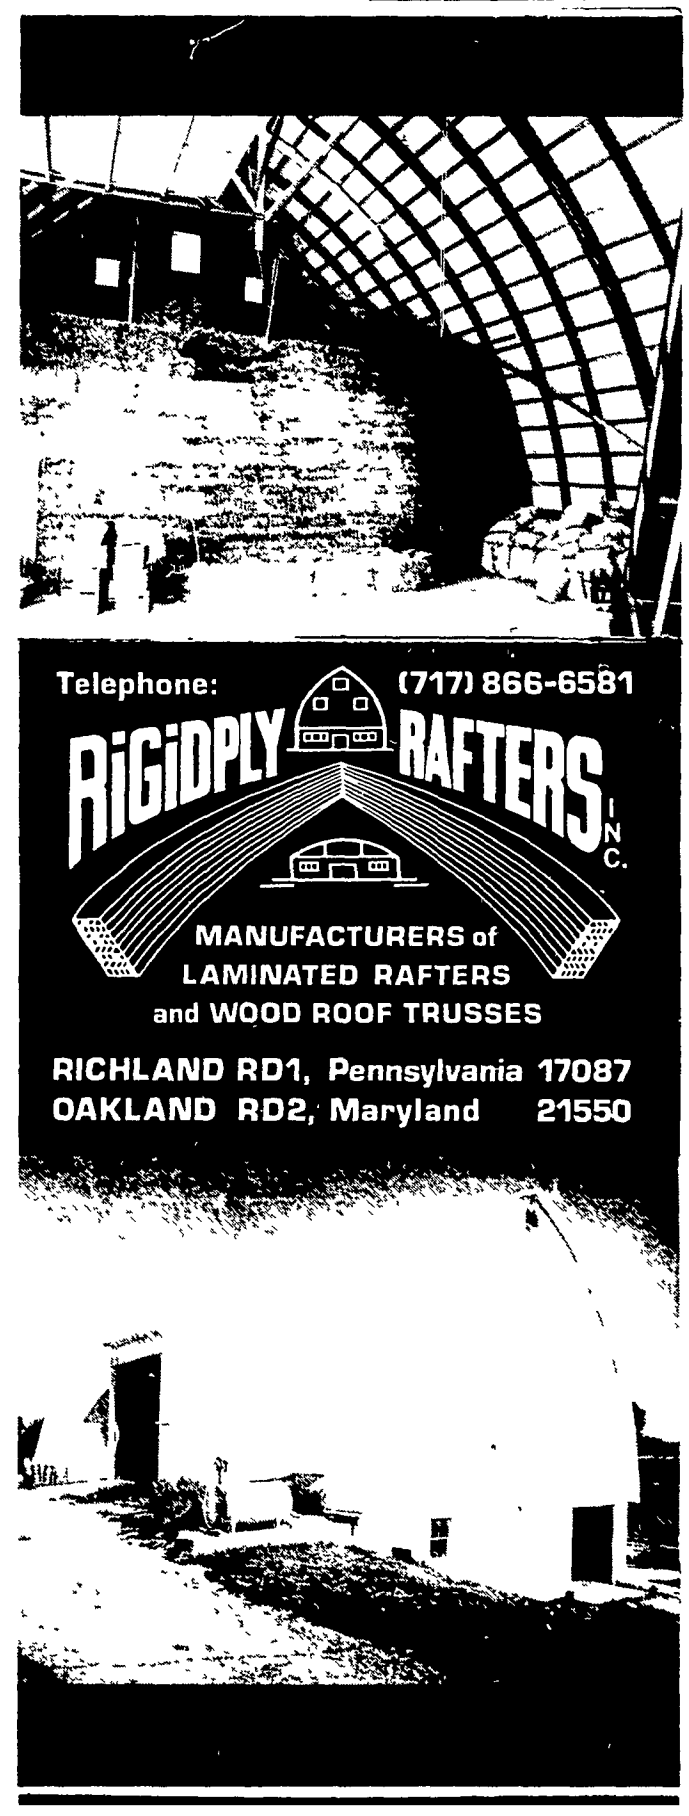
Today we recommend about 8 to 10 inches of insulation in the attic (R-30) and at least 3½ inches in the walls (R-13).

Why this increase? Because energy is much too valuable and costly to waste. And, one of the best ways for you to save energy . . . and money, is to reduce the heating and cooling waste in your home through better insulation.

Best of all, insulation pays for itself in energy savings, season after season, year after year. As energy costs continue to rise, your savings become even more significant.

So if your attic doesn't measure up to the new recommended standard, now is the time to add more. It's the easiest, most economical place to start.

An Energy Saving Message from PP&L



My thoughts . . . . . .

"Excuse me," I yelled above the noise A head popped out from under the car, and my stomach jumped a high hurdle He looked as though someone had dragged him off of the set of an Alfred Hitchcock movie and put him right to work banging the damaged fender into place.

"Hope you get your car fixed," I croaked in response to his look of 'what can I do for you?' With that I hustled off toward the nearest thing that caught my eye

That "thing" was a well-meaning public-minded citizen directing traffic leaving the parking area

Taking off at a full gallop, I cut across the moving traffic, ran up to his side, and was about to say "Excuse me," when a headlight beam reflected off his face

My stomach, which had settled down slightly, took another flying leap If that other guy looked like dracula, this fellow looked like he came from outer space.

My "public-minded citizen", who was so kindly helping to direct traffic, was actually a prankster with a rubber mask over his face, directing traffic in order to show off. So much for him.

Growing tired of the hostile world of draculas and men from outer space, I headed to the cattle barns for refuge. Not more than a minute after I stepped into the familiar environment I was rescued--this time by a cowboy out of a western movie--who, with the help of a friendly policeman, fixed up Frank in no time.

So, if I'm ever late to a meeting in the upcoming months, you'll know where I'll be--looking for a hitching post to tie my horse, a welcome relief to a pooped policecar.

Homemakers can create flowers from ribbon

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

BAIR - "One of the purposes of these meetings is to train leaders of the homemakers groups in the county. They take their newly acquired skill and teach it to a meeting of their members. That in turn helps them to be more at ease in learning how to speak in front of groups," says A. Joan Lamberson, York County Extension Service home economist.

Mrs. Lamberson organized the leader training program on floral design held on September 21 at the county 4-H center near Bair. Teacher of the seminar, the first of several scheduled during upcoming months, was Mrs. Russel Fuhrman, 324 Lexington Street, York.

Mrs. Fuhrman has worked with flower arranging for the past 25 years, spending 15 of those years operating a florist shop. She now specializes in teaching and has instructed the adult evening classes at the York County Vocational-Technical School for three years.

"I've had no real professional training," emphasizes Mrs. Fuhrman. "Actually, I just sort of 'fell' into floral design."

About 35 homemaker leaders attended the four-hour seminar, bringing with them a variety of fresh flowers and equipment for on-the-spot arranging experience.

Mrs. Fuhrman first taught the method of creating a spray of flowers made from satin ribbon. For variety in texture and colors of the finished product, the flowers can also be constructed using delicate fabrics, such as organdy or dotted swiss. Leaves for the floral spray are made in the same fashion, using green colored ribbon or material.

Each petal is fashioned from a square of ribbon. For her demonstration, Mrs. Fuhrman chose unmber 9 ribbon, which is about four inches wide. Fold the square into a triangle (Fig. A.), then again into another triangle (Fig. B.). With the rough edges at the bottom, loosely pleat the bottom of the triangle (Fig C.). Holding the bunched ribbon firmly between your fingers, wrap it tightly with a six-inch piece of florist wire, leaving about four inches of the wire for a stem (Fig. D.). Finally, enclose the wire wrapped bottom of the ribbon in floral tape, continuing to wrap the tape downward around the wire until completely covered, giving a stem effect.

When several petals of the same color have been constructed, they can be combined to make a flower. Cluster seven, (or more for more fullness) of the individual petals around a tiny center of dired flowers or artificial stamens, bending the petals at a right angle to the wire stems.

Wrap the cluster of wire stems with floral tape, adding two longer pieces of heavier wire, and enclosing the entire finished heavy stem with floral tape. The heavier wires add strength and holding power when the finished spray is ready for use in an arrangement.

For a partially opened flower, use three petals clustered around a tiny center. A bud effect can be created also by using one petal only and surrounding it with leaves made from green petals.

Leaf groupings, made from three or five green petals, can be wired into the spray for foliage effects.

For long lasting no-wilt corsages, a smaller ribbon can be sued. Use of #40 ribbon, which is one and a half inches wide, will result in tiny half-inch petals for dainty flowers.

Mrs. Fuhrman encouraged her students not to worry if the petals did not turn out perfect the first time, reminding them that "no one was born knowing how to do this."

"Art doesn't have to be perfection," she stressed. 'Besides, sometimes the other way is more natural anyway."

In keeping with the Fall time of the year, Mrs. Fuhrman demonstrated the methods of creating with natural dried plant materials.

"Walk with your eye to the ground, so that you don't miss any of nature's beauty," she urged the homemakers. "Look for pretty rocks and attractively shaped pieces of wood."

Arranging does not have to be expensive either, according to this professional.

"Use things that you already have around the house and yard," she reminded. "And you can often pick up interesting containers and accent pieces for just a few cents at auctons and sales."

Green styrofoam, which can be purchased in large blocks, is recommended for the base of dried arrangements. Mrs. Fuhrman suggests using a hacksaw to cut off only what is needed to fit the container, since the material is somewhat expensive. This base should be fastened in the dish or vase with small bits of "posey clay," pressed firmly to the bottom of the styrofoam and given a small twist for increased holding power.

If the arrangement is to be done on a flat base, such as a piece of wood or slate, mosses or dried leaves make excellent coverings to hide the styrofoam. Tack the coverings to the styrofoam with small wire picks, similar to hairpins.

When centering candles in the arrangement, nick a small bit of the styrofoam out where the candles are to be loacted. Carefully insert the candles into the small holes.

EXTENSION SERVICE TIPS ON USING DRIED MATERIALS

Dried arrangements must have line, shape, form, interest and a focal point. Line, shape and form can be created by using long sprays of wheat, barley, oats, cattails, peacock feathers, plumes and groups of grasses.

Interest is achieved with the small-headed flowers. For a focal point, large headed flowers and groups of small-headed flowers can be used.

Suggested materials include: moss for covering styrofoam, styrofoam, floral picks, floral tape, floral wire, floral clay, wire cutter, scissors, hacksaw to cut styrofoam and an awl for making holes.

Cut flowers stems at an angle. This gives the stem a point which makes easier

Ayrshire banners go out of state

HARRISBURG - The first Eastern National Ayrshire Show ever held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show saw entries from several states walking away with banners.

Entries from Maryland captured the awards for premier breeder and exhibitor, the banners going to Palmyra Farm, of Hagerstown, Maryland. Palmyra Farm had exhibited the senior champion and grand champion female, a five-year-old cow named "Palmyra Dolmen Tammy."

The senior and grand champion bull was "Cove Creek Flashy Boy," a 3-year-old exhibited by the Cove Creek Farm in Bedford, Cove Creek Farm also showed the reserve junior champion female, a junior yearling heifer named "Cove Creek Star's Cathy."

Premier sire for the show, for a second consecutive year was "Oak Ridge Flashy Klondike," owned by Sire Power of Tunkhannock.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion bull was the 4-year old "Oak Ridge C H Peer," exhibited by John and Penny Bell of Bell's Farm, Elmer, New Jersey. Bell's Farm also showed the reserve junior champion bull, a bull calf named "Merriland Gorgeous Vic."

Junior champion bull honors went to "Crooked Brook Honey," a bull calf exhibited by the Crooked Brook Farm of Voluntown, Connecticut.

A New Hampshire entry, "Chestnut Ridge Klondy's Paula," was named reserve senior champion and reserve grand champion female Ayrshire. "Paula," a five-year-old cow, was shown by the Chestnut Ridge Farm of Amherst, New Hampshire.

The judge for the Eastern National Ayrshire Show was C. Fred Foreman, from Ames, Iowa.

Other Pennsylvania Ayrshire breeders who placed in the top five of various classes were: Towerview Farm, Cochranville; William and Wilda Kline, Mars; Baytree Ayrshires, Evans City; Ardrossan Farms, Villanova; Roger Brant, Mount Union; Betty Diehl, Bedford; Rolling Hill Farm, Mount Union and George Knight and Doug Seidel, Airville.

Inspection terminated

WASHINGTON, D.C. – In response to a request by Maryland grain inspection officials, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is taking formal action to cancel the Maryland state agriculture department's designation as one of approximately 90 official grain inspection agencies in the United States.

According to a spokesman for USDA's Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS), the cancellation took effect Sept. 19. Before the suspension, the state had been providing official grain inspection service at only one site, Salisbury. For the most part, the inspections involved truck shipments of corn.

Since the voluntary suspension a year ago, state officials have been performing unofficial inspection at Salisbury, and will apparently continue to do so.

Unofficial inspections are not conducted under the U.S. Grain Standards Act and are neither authorized nor supervised by FGIS.

Farmers or grain merchants desiring official inspection of domestically marketed grain in Maryland should contact the FGIS in Baltimore.

Carter drops one

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Net income per farm in the United States is running at a lower rate in "real" dollars (actual purchasing power) than at any time during the Nixon Administration, the President's Council of Economic Advisers reported to Congress recently. Net income per farm averaged only $4,000 (at an annual rate) in 1967 dollars for the second quarter of 1977, according to economic indicators, a CEA report. The lowest during the Nixon Administration was $4,093 in 1976. The average reached $8,817 in the peak year of 1973 - more than double the present level. Farm prices have plunged nine per cent and farm income has gone down further since the second quarter ending June 30.

Sale and auction set

SKIPPACK - The tenth annual Country Sale and Auction sponsored by the volunteers of Norristown State Hospital for the benefit of the Patient Rehabilitation Fund will be held October 11 at the Skippack Fire House, Route 113, Skippack.

The sale will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until auction time at 7 p.m. Among the choice items for sale will be handmade quilts, turn-of-the-century furniture, appliances, tools and gardening equipment, plants, books, handcrafted articles, jewelry, toys, and home accessories. Except for the quilts, all of which are new, some of these are collector's items, some are new, most are used.

A popular feature of the sale is a table of delectable homemade foods - cakes, pies, breads, canned fruits and vegetables, and preserves. For those who want to eat while shopping, a snack bar will be available selling homemade soup, a special barbecue sandwich, and homemade cakes and pies, as well as hamburgers, hot dogs, and hot and cold beverages.

Pa.'s ag officials to address Grange

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania's three top officials in agriculture will address sessions of the 105th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange at Danville, Montour County, October 24-27.

State Agriculture Secretary Kent D. Shelhamer will address the Grangers at 11:20 a.m. on October 25.

State Senator Patrick J. Stapleton, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, will address Grange delegates at the opening session Monday afternoon, October 24. His talk is scheduled for 3:40 p.m.

The third member of the group, Representative Paul J. Yahner of Cambria County, will speak at 3 p.m. Tuesday, October 25. A former farmer and businessman, Yahner has served in the House of Representatives since 1964. He succeeded Shelhamer as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee following the latter's appointment as Secretary of Agriculture.

All the sessions they will address will be held in the Danville Area High School auditorium.

to insert into the base and gives the stem a firmer hold.

Stems can be bent by gently working the hands up and down the dried stem, coaxing the stem into the right curve. If the stems are excessively dry and brittle, soak them for an hour in warm water, then carefully bend. After the curve is set, dry on paper towels.

Small flowers can sometimes be handled better if grouped into bunches. Cut the stems to the desired lengths. Cut a three inch length of floral tape, then stretch it about another half-inch. (This prevents the tape from loosening later.) After arranging the cluster of flowers, tightly wrap the tape evenly and smoothly around the stems, beginning at about the middle of the stems and working down to within a half inch of the ends.

Sometimes it is necessary to add length and strength to dried materials with a floral pick. Overlap the end of the stem and the pick for about one and one half inches. Wrap the wire at the top o of the pick around the stem, and cover with floral tape. If even more length is needed, instead use a piece of heavy wire cut to the needed length, overlap with the stem, and wrap with floral tape.

HOFFMAN SALUTES JOSEPH KENNEL

At Hoffman Seeds, we're proud to present Joseph M. Kennel of Honey Brook, Pa., with our Distinguished Service Award -- the highest honor we can confer.

Out of the more than 500 Hoffman representatives in 11 states, Mr. Kennel's record has been outstanding. The award does much more than recognize his close relationships with his Hoffman customers. It also symbolizes the assistance he has given them in the selecting of the right varieties for their farms... counselling on new crop management techniques... and all-around assistance to make their efforts more rewarding.

The Award included a trip to the international headquarters of Funk's G-Hybrids and also to the Funk's-G seed production facilities Hoffman operates in Illinois. The insights gained there will equip him to offer even better seed corn information to his customers.

The foundation on which he has built his sales success since 1960 is a sincere desire to offer the best possible service. We congratulate him for his accomplishments and thank each of his customers for the business they have entrusted to Hoffman through him.

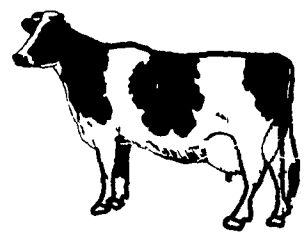
ATTENTION



DAIRYMEN AND LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS

Are you getting maximum production and profit from your livestock? Is your herd healthy, or are you having endless problems: It is a known fact that 90 - 95 per cent of all the problems with livestock are nutritional, improperly balanced diets. That is why SYMO-LIFE, INC. has developed a program to make your livestock operation more profitable whether it be Dairy, Beef or Swine. We test your forages and grains and computer formulate your rations for maximum production and feed efficiency. For further information contact:

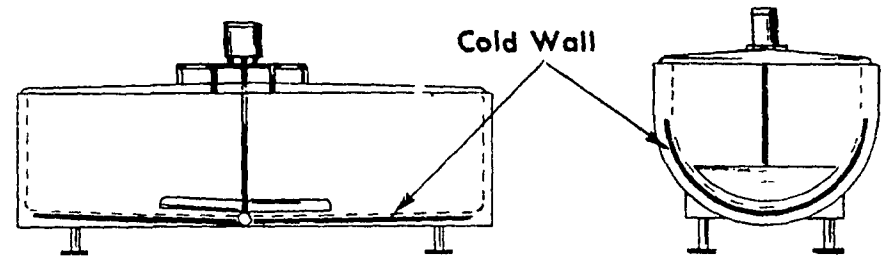
IN OPEN TOP BULK TANKS
GIRTONS FLAT BOTTOM IS BETTER THAN THEIR ROUND BOTTOM



A small quantity of milk completely covers the refrigerated bottom of the DIPLOMAT

The same quantity of milk, when put in a curved bottom tank, leaves large area of cold wall exposed

HERE'S WHY:

1. Eliminates condensation because a minimum of milk covers the entire cold plate.
2. Increases efficiency of cooling system because as soon as the bottom is covered the full cooling system is cooling milk, not air
3. Makes less work because lower sides make it easier to pour milk into the tank Lowest pouring tank on the market - 34¾" high

Together, Murrens led 4-H 81 years

By SALLY BAIR
Feature Writer

HANOVER - Francis, Theresa and Thomas Murren have served as 4-H leaders in Adams County for a combined total of over 81 years! That's a lot of years in 4-H, but doesn't even count the number of years they participated as 4-H'ers themselves.

Sound remarkable? Well, it is. The Murren family, led by matriarch Rose Murren, has been involved in 4-H in Adams County since 1925 when Francis joined the Baby Beef Club and went on to win grand champion honors at the Farm Show with his first Hereford.

Since then, there's probably always been a Murren serving as leader or being a 4-H'er. Tom, Rose's grandson, explained that his grandmother was an active, ardent supporter of the agricultural Extension Service because she was widowed with nine children from ages nine months to 14 years and left with a large farm to run. For assistance she called upon the Extension Service and relied heavily upon their advice. Therefore, when a baby beef 4-H club was formed, she made sure her children were involved. Over the years, each one of the children was a member, and eventually, at least six of them took their turn as leaders.

Francis received his 20-year service pin and then served several more years before he had no more children in 4-H Theresa continues to serve after 32 years and Thomas is an active dairy club leader after 29 years Another sister, Elizabeth, now deceased, served about 13 years with Theresa; Grace, (Mrs. Paul Dennis) served as a leader in the northern end of the county; and brother Simon, served for one year as a swine club leader

Francis, now 69, recalls that he was a member for just two years before he was too old, and then he became a leader. Subsequently he and his wife had six sons who were 4-H members. He said, "All six boys completed 10 years of 4-H work. That was 60 steers. And everyone of them showed at Farm Show." Two years ago Francis was invited to present the winning ribbon at the Farm Show along with Agriculture Secretary Raymond Kerstetter in honor of his 50th anniversary of having grand champion.

As a former beef club leader, Francis readily admits that there have been a lot of changes over the years, "especially with breeding. Before, there were no crossbreds. Steers are of better quality today"

He remembers the time when judges started changing what they were looking for in a steer He is also quick to point out that judging cows - like judging people - is a very individual thing.

Tom and Theresa Murren talk about some of the things they've shared over the years as 4-H leaders. Tom has served the dairy club for 29 years and Theresa is in her 32nd year as leader.

Raising livestock has been a way of life for Francis Murren all his life. This retired 4-H leader is still active on the farm.

He recalled taking 4-H steers to the Lancaster Stock Yards to be shown and sold with the southeast district if they weren't selected to go to Farm Show. As a leader, he also helped to get through the period when York and Adams Counties decided to go their own way and hold a show and sale at the Thomasville Auction.

Francis is still farming his Hanover R4 farm, with 85 acres, chickens, hogs and some steers He remains enthusiastic about the values instilled in his sons through 4-H work and added, "You should learn all you can because you never know when you may need it."

Theresa has been a leader for 32 years, and has served four different clubs, covering basically the same area. First she coordinated the Brushtown Club, then the Conewago Club, then the Sandhill Club and today she is one of the leaders of the McSherrystown Community Club.

"I mostly help with foods," she said.

She herself was a member of the Brushtown Club for 10 years and showed baby beef for three years. She was on the livestock judging team and was able to attend some state activities.

Theresa has witnessed many changes over the years, some of which she considers to be good, some not so good. Changing to the Danish system of judging is not entirely to her liking. When she was a 4-H'er (two generations ago, she says), Theresa recalled that there were five ribbons awarded per club. "I never got a ribbon for several years." Now everyone gets a ribbon, and she feels that unnecessary emphasis is placed on wanting a blue ribbon.

"In those days," Theresa said, "The ribbons didn't matter because 4-H was the only youth activity going on. It was an opportunity to meet other people. Round-up was a really big event because it meant a day off from farm work."

Tom agrees that 4-H has changed "There are so many more activities and so many more events for 4-H'ers to meet and take part in at the local, state, and national level. In the early days 4-H was more of a highlight for the youth to be in. Today 4-H is a supplement to other activites. But there is increased opportunity to meet more people and to become more involved in activities."

Tom was a 4-H'er for 10 years and showed both beef and dairy cows. He has been a dairy club leader for 29 years.

The numbers and variety of projects has changed drastically, but Theresa confirms that sewing is still the main interest in her community club. Interest in foods is way down, she said, but last year ceramics had a lot of interest. She went on to say, "McSherrystown has the most well organized recreational program anywhere in the county. The need for 4-H is not so great here because organized activities are right at hand for young people."

While the dairy project remains basically the same, Tom acknowledges that the big change in dairy clubs is

Officers elected

JEFFERSON - The September meeting of the Jefferson Community 4-H Club was held recently at the home of John Wherley. Elections were held. The following officers were elected: Charla Janney, president; Dave Wise, vice president; Wanda Kneller, secretary; Michelle Bankert, assistant secretary; Bill Wise, treasurer; Stephanie Lehr, assistant treasurer; news reporter, Christine DePalmer, assistant news reporter; Jennifer DePalmer and Susan Janney, song and game leaders.

A committee was formed to plan the achievement night, with the program scheduled to be sometime in November.

The next meeting will be a Halloween party, October 15, 7:30 p.m., at the DePalmer's barn on Hoffacker Road in Brodbecks.

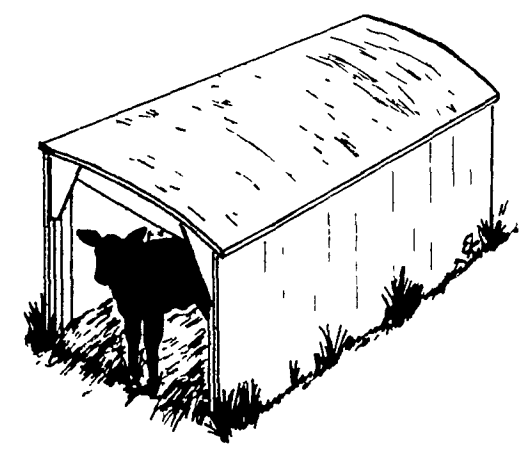
CUSTOM BUILT CALF HUTS

MADE TO ORDER



Build a separate pen in front of each calf. Space each pen and calf far enough apart from the next unit to keep each calf separated from its neighbor This isolation of each unit is very important ...It helps prevent the spread of infectious diseases.

Straw or other suitable bedding is used for the floor. The calf is a proven design that provides a dry, draft-free shelter for the animal The result....a much healthier calf!

Facts for dairymen

By Alan Bair
Assoc. County Agent
Lancaster, Pa.

How does a dairy specialist end up washing a dairyman's bulk tank? I'm still not sure how it happens, but while Steve Spencer and I were at a farm recently to check out a mastitis problem, Steve ended up washing the tank.

It's fairly safe to say that most high bacteria counts are the result of dirty equipment. A high bacteria count may or may not be associated with a mastitis problem. The farm that Steve and I were working on had two separate and unrelated problems - dirty equipment and a mastitis problem.

Failure to practice proper sanitation for farm bulk tanks is causing more raw milk quality problems. Every bulk tank should be washed and sanitized each time it is emptied. Apparently, this does not always happen during Spring and Summer months. A thorough rinse job may look satisfactory, but the result is spoiled milk and consumer complaints.

Most farm bulk tanks can be manually washed using only a gallon or two of concentrated solution. Use a plastic or rubber pail and two to four ounces of chlorinated cleaner per gallon of water. Soak the entire tank surface using a bulk tank brush, then scrub covers, walls, agitator and valve.

If you are using an automatic tank washer you are not immune to dirty tank problems. For circulation cleaning use about one ounce of cleaner per gallon of hot water. Circulate at 120 degrees F. or warmer at the end of the cycle for about 10 minutes.

Rinse with a hose to which an acid dispenser is attached. It should meter in about one ounce per five gallons of water to prevent a white film.

Sanitize your bulk tank before the first milking. Use a hose and sanitizer meter to provide chlorine at 200 ppm or iodine at 25 ppm.

The particular problem on the farm mentioned earlier was brought about by a busy dairyman trying to do a 10 minute job in five minutes with half the cleaning compound. A classic example of "the hurriedier I go the behinder I get!"

Do not neglect your bulk tank. Wash and sanitize it on a regular basis - each time it is emptied.

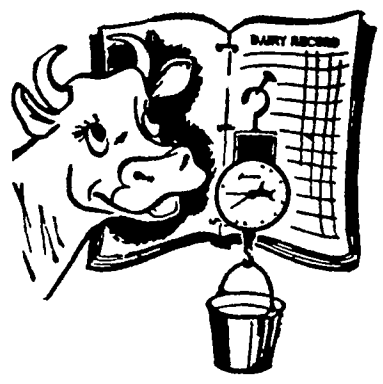
BREEDING CATTLE FOR YOUR NEXT GENERATION



CHESTER COUNTY DHIA MONTHLY REPORT

Butterfat records of 996 and 995 pounds were recorded by two Chester County Holsteins last month, bringing recognition to owners Harold Umble and Jacob Stoltzfus. Umble's "Carlo" edged Stoltzfus' "Carmel" by one pound. Their respective records were as follows: 20,880 pounds of milk, 4.8 per cent, 996 pounds of butterfat, and 23,679 pounds of milk, 4.2 per cent, 995 pounds of butterfat. Both lactations were completed in 305 days. Milk production champion for the month was Number 132 in the Newton Evans, Jr. herd. A 5-year old Holstein, she produced 25,260 pounds of milk with a 2.8 per cent test and 715 pounds of butterfat in 305 days.

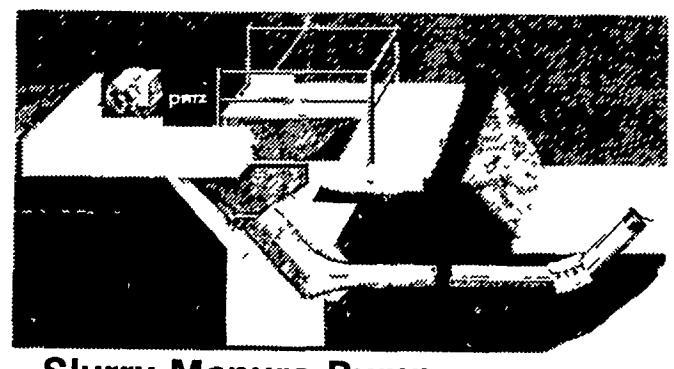
PATZ Manure Handlers

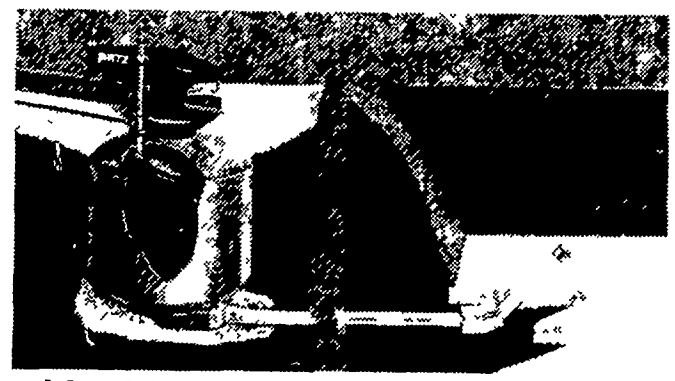
Simple, Easy and Conveniently Out-of-the Way!

The old strongarm method of Manure Handling gives way to new muscle from PATZ — namely the Slurry Manure Pump and compressed-air Liquid Manure Mover These modern methods of manure movement provide simplicity, rugged construction, operational ease, dependability, plus convenience



Slurry Manure Pump

Slurry or free flowing manure is pumped from a 180 gallon hopper under ground through 12 in PVC pipe to the manure holding area (If bedding is used only fine cut is recommended) Stroke is adjustable and driven by tough roller chain drive/reduction unit Plunger, sleeve, and one-way valves all can be removed for servicing



Liquid Manure Mover

Big 1700 (US) gallon below-ground pressure vessel collects slurry that is moved simply and easily by as little as 10-12 lbs of air pressure through 12 in. PVC pipe to manure storage area Simplicity in design, turning swing-away hatch cover, one-way valve at bottom and flapper valve at the discharge end are the only moving parts

*Morrison's Analysis

Notice that in almost every nutrient specification, Stretch is superior to roughages or other roughage substitutes.

FEEDING

Stretch can be used in many ways. A thumb rule is that 1 lb. Stretch replaces 1½ lbs. hay, 2½ lbs. hay crop silage, 3 lbs. corn silage.

Stretch can replace oats in a grist ration. Being a pellet, it aids in flowability in bulk handling facilities. Stretch contains molasses, thereby increasing the molasses content of the total grist without adding to "stickiness".

BEACON STRETCH IS A PELLET - Available in bag or bulk.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Home Economist

SWEET TREATS

The nutritional value of sweet potatoes has been known and heralded over many, many years of good eating. Their versatility has been enhanced yearly as new and interesting ways to prepare and serve sweet potatoes has appeared in recipes that range from breakfast dishes to flaming desserts.

Traditionally, sweet potatoes have been a companion food to poultry, but they are also a natural go-together with pork, ham, sausage, and many other entrees. They can be baked, boiled, fried, or mashed, and they combine well with other foods. For example - a sweet potato casserole topped with marshmallows, pineapple, or orange slices. Nutmeg and cinnamon are the most appropriate spices to enhance the flavor of these rich, orange-fleshed potatoes

Sweet potatoes are popular in one-dish and buffet specialties with pork, veal, corned beef, luncheon meats, and other meats. Their color, taste and texture make them a good choice for a variety of quick breads

For the same reasons - taste, texture and color - new dessert recipes include sweet potatoes in puddings, souffles, for pies, tarts, whips, and sherbets, and sweet potatoes are also combined with mince-meat, apples, prunes, apricots, coconut, raisins, and a variety of nuts.

A few specific suggestions follow:

ORANGE STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

6 medium (2 lbs.) baked fresh sweet potatoes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup diced fresh orange
¼ cup shredded coconut
½ teaspoon grated fresh lemon rind
6 teaspoons butter or margarine

Cut off tops from baked sweet potatoes. Scoop out the inside, keeping the shell intact. Mash sweet potatoes with butter or margarine. Add salt, sugar, diced orange, coconut and lemon rind. Mix well. Spoon into sweet potato shells. Dot each with 1 teaspoon butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated hover oven (450 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

SWEET POTATO PANCAKES

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 egg, separated
1 cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
¾ cup shredded, pared raw sweet potato
2 teaspoons grated fresh orange rind

Sift together flour, salt and baking soda. In a medium mixing bowl heat egg yolk and buttermilk until well blended. Stir in flour mixture, melted butter, sweet potato and orange rind. In a small mixing bowl beat egg while until stiff; fold into batter. Using 2 tablespoons batter for each pancake, drop batter onto a hot greased griddle. Cook until cakes are puffy, full of bubbles and edges are cooked. Turn and cook other side. Serve with maple syrup. Yield: 24 medium pancakes.

INCREASE INDOOR STORAGE SPACE

There's more storage space in your home than you think, but it might not be as obvious as a closet or a bookcase.

Consider the space between the top of a doorway and the ceiling. Shelves placed in this area are called "high on the wall shelving" and can be installed near the ceiling of any room by fastening inverted shelf brackets to one of the 2 x 4 wood plates at the top of the stud wall.

Spaces below the lavatory and above the toilet tank in the bathroom can also be used for storage.

Another good place for storing items is below the bed. Most beds have space below the bed frame which can accommodate a storage box as simple as a cardboard box with a cover or a wooden platform on casters.

The back of doors that are rarely closed, as well as the insides of closet doors, can handle adjustable door shelving for small household items such as canned goods.

Built-in seating below a window, along a wall or alongside a raised hearth can be used as storage bins - but not for fireplace wood. Store wood outside to avoid insect infestation.

If you are fortunate enough to have a laundry area, use wall cabinets or shelves to hold laundry supplies as well as many other items.

Shelf assemblies are becoming a very popular means of providing more storage space and can also be used to divide spaces into rooms or deflect drafts from open doors, if placed near an entry.

In addition, space below a staircase can be used for storage. To protect against dirt, however, the stairs should have risers and be covered on the underside. This area could be a good storage space for out-of-season clothing such as heavy garments, which can be placed in garment bags and hung from steel pipe storage racks.

An attic is a good storage area only if it is protected against pests, rain and snow and the floor is well supported by the area below it. Make sure items stored in the attic can withstand a variation in temperature from well below freezing to as hot as 140 degrees F.

Finally, the joist spaces in a basement ceiling provide a good space for storing long objects. But avoid spaces containing electrical wiring.

Teachers learn about pork

LANCASTER - The Lancaster County Pork Producers sponsored a buffet dinner and meeting on September 27 for home economics teachers of Lancaster and Chester Counties. The meeting was held at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center, Lancaster.

The purpose of the meeting and dinner was to introduce ideas and ways that home economics classes can use pork in their studies.

John McClure, consumer education specialist with Pantry Pride and Penn Fruit, spoke to the group and demonstrated with cuts of pork a variety of ideas and methods of experimenting and enhancing pork cooking knowledge.

McClure stressed the economical ways to use pork, and showed some differences in ways different portions of meat should be cut and cooked. He also mentioned the importance of having sharp knives when working with meat. Another point that was brought out was the fact that all pork should be cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees F. before serving.

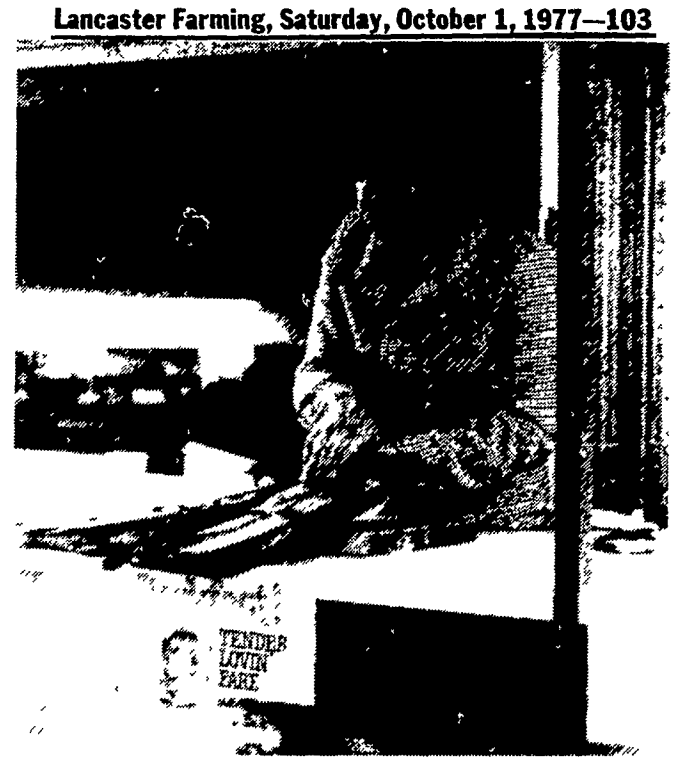
Before the buffet dinner, a short film was shown, called "Surprise Me" dealing with the subject of pork. Then the guests were treated to a meal in which each dish had an ingredient of pork in it.

Included in the meal were: Sausage Cheese Muffins, Glazed Ham Balls, Sausage Casserole, Pork Chow Mein, Cheshire Pork, Cheese Pizzas on Muffins, Islander Nui Cole Slaw, Syrian Stew (Yukhner), Sausage Cake, Choucroute et Garni, Hazel's Salad, and Meat Balls.

Later in the evening, the teachers were told how they could receive free pork for use in the classroom by Glenn Hershey, from the Ezra W. Martin Company.

A variety of pork products are available for the school program and interested home economics teachers were told to contact the company at least one week before the anticipated delivery day. The preferred minimum delivery weight is 40 pounds per order.

The buffet dinner for the evening was prepared by Carol Henkel, Sue Groff, Ruth Deam, Colleen Haldeman, Joyce Hershey, B.J. Fisher, and Hazel Nestleroth.



John McClure, consumer education specialist with Pantry Pride and Penn Fruit, shows some of the knives he uses when working with different cuts of pork.

Thirty year leader still involved with 4-H

by KENDACE BORRY

MOUNT JOY – Has 4-H changed in the past thirty years? What's it like to be a 4-H leader? Are the youth that go into 4-H different today than those that entered the clubs years ago?- Lancaster Farming went to a 30 year veteran leader of 4-H to find the answers.

Mrs. Ruth Nissley, Mount Joy, R3, was a member of the Lampeter Strasburg Sewing 4-H Club 30 years ago when she became a junior leader. From that, it was just a small step to becoming a local leader, and she has remained involved as a leader of 4-H ever since. She has worked with sewing and cooking clubs and was involved in organizing a photography club.

For the past twelve years she has been involved with the Mount Joy Home Ec Club, which has a membership of approximately 150 4-H'ers. Her favorite activity of the club is the sewing, and she added that she likes to see the youths learn to sew, and see that at the end of the project they have something they can use, having learned from the process.

According to Mrs. Nissley, basically 4H'ers are the same today as they were when she first became a leader – all are willing and eager to learn. Concerning sewing projects, the biggest changes in 4-H are that years ago, the 4-H'ers were instructed to do all sewing work by hand up to the second year of work, and now the youth use the sewing machine much earlier in training and learn more machine knowledge sooner.

The club Mrs. Nissley is involved in has many projects including crocheting, cake decorating, and wild flowers. Wild flowers is a relatively new project added to the club, which is hoped will become stronger and more active next year. Other projects include cooking, macrame, and foods of international flavor.

The club meets mainly over the summer months, and Mrs. Nissley's biggest complaint is that the summer goes too fast. The leaders try not to rush the girls, but hopefully at the end of the summer, each girl has something to show in the individual project's roundup

As part of the organization of the club, the leaders meet in November to discuss strategies and plans, and during March the final organizing of the club gets underway.

Besides being a 4-H leader, Mrs Nissley is also active in church work at the Bethel Mennonite Church in Lancaster, listing that she serves as a church hostess, member of the Church Board and Christian Education Board and helps with the Women's Missionary Society. In her spare time, she also likes to crochet.

Living on a 165 acre farm with her husband John Nissley, and four children-Darwin, Trudy, Bernard, and Rosemary, she mentioned that everyone helps with the farm work.

To those people who are thinking of becoming a 4-H leader, Mrs. Nissley had this advice. Try being a leader. The 4-H'ers need the help, and as a leader, one can learn along with the youth. Every year, Mrs. Nissley claimed, she learns something new, and being a 4-H leader is a great way to meet and know the youth who will be the adults of tomorrow.

Mrs. Ruth Nissley, involved with 4-H for 30 years, proudly shows a crocheted quilt she has made in her free time.

Area tractor driving champs

EPHRATA - Two Lancaster County Youths, Brian Hess, Leola R1, and Tim Gockley, Reinholds R1, have the opportunity to represent Lancaster, Chester, and Delaware counties in tractor driving competition at the State Future Farmers of America Days held at Penn State next June. Hess and Gockley earned this honor by placing first and second, respectively, in the area FFA tractor driving contest held last Saturday at the Ephrata Fair. That competition was postponed from Friday due to rain.

Hess, 16, a junior at Garden Spot High School, is a member of the Grassland FFA chapter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Hess, Leola. The number one berth of the four-part contest went to Hess after he took first place in the driving category, second in the maintenance test, third in trouble shooting, and second in the maintenance demonstration. The driving test, in which Hess took top honors, carries the heaviest weight of the four-part contest.

Gockley, 15, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gockley, is a member of the Cloister FFA Chapter of Ephrata High School. In Saturday's contest he placed second in driving, first in maintenance, first in trouble shooting, the first in the maintenance demonstration.

R. Dale Metz, Lampeter, a student at Lampeter Strasburg High School, took third in the area contest.

Brian Hess, Leola R1, seated on tractor in background, won the annual Area FFA Tractor Driving Contest held last Saturday morning in Ephrata. A member of the Grassland FFA chapter at Garden Spot High School, New Holland, he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Hess. First runner-up was Tim Gockley, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gockley, Reinholds R1, and a member of Cloister chapter at Ephrata High School. Second runner-up was R. Dale Metz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Metz, Lampeter, a member of the Lampeter-Strasburg chapter.

Metz placed third in driving, third in the maintenance test, second in trouble shooting, and third in the maintenance demonstration.

Machinery and official judges were provided by area farm machinery dealers.

Tool up here for a great future in the hog business

Producers planning to stay in the hog business are tooling up to squeeze more pork from their feed and their labor.

If you're one of them, chances are you'll appreciate the built-in feed and labor efficiency of AGSTAR equipment.

Sensible feed saving design features — like precision TIP TOP feed flow adjustment on AGSTAR feeders.

Great labor saving ideas — like self-cleaning watering cups with smooth Porcelainized Steel surface, and fully automatic feeding and ventilation equipment.

We think you'll also appreciate the ruggedness and durability of every piece of AGSTAR equipment.

You can buy AGSTAR equipment and install it in your own buildings. Or, you can get it already installed and ready to use in one of our new factory built modular hog production buildings for sows, pigs or finishing hogs.

The equipment samples in the photo are arranged to demonstrate as many of our 40 types of hog equipment as possible. For full details on this and our other equipment for confinement, open lot, or pasture — as well as cattle, sheep, or horse equipment — contact your AGSTAR dealer. Or if you prefer, just use the coupon.

Two Berks Co. 4-H'ers win state awards

Janis Malsbury

Deborah Angstadt

UNIVERSITY PARK - Janis Malsbury, 17, of Rehrersburg, in the 1977 4-H National Awards Program was named state winner in home management; and Deborah Angstadt, 16, of Maxatawny, was a winner in the bicycle category.

Janis will receive an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 27 to December 1. Deborah will receive a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and will be eligible to attend the national convention.

Support of the home management project is provided by Tupperware Home Parties and bicycle, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Janis Malsbury, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Malsbury, is a senior at the Tulpehocken High School. She has been a 4-H member for eight years.

A member of the Rehrersburg 4-H Club, she served as president, vice president, secretary, and news reporter. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader.

The state home management contest winner completed projects in seven years of sewing, foods and nutrition, and teen leadership.

Locally, she took part in dress revue, fair, camp, communication day, and officers training.

She also participated in the Regional 4-H Dress Revue, State 4-H Capital Days, and Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Angstadt, Deborah Angstadt is a senior at the Kutztown Senior High School. She has been a 4-H member for eight years.

A member of the Kutztown 4-H Club, Deborah serves as president, game leader, and news reporter, and assisted with bicycle project work as a teen leader.

The state contest winner completed projects in several units of bicycle, teen leadership, and home improvement.

She took part in the County 4-H Fair, Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, and Pennsylvania 4-H Leadership Congress.

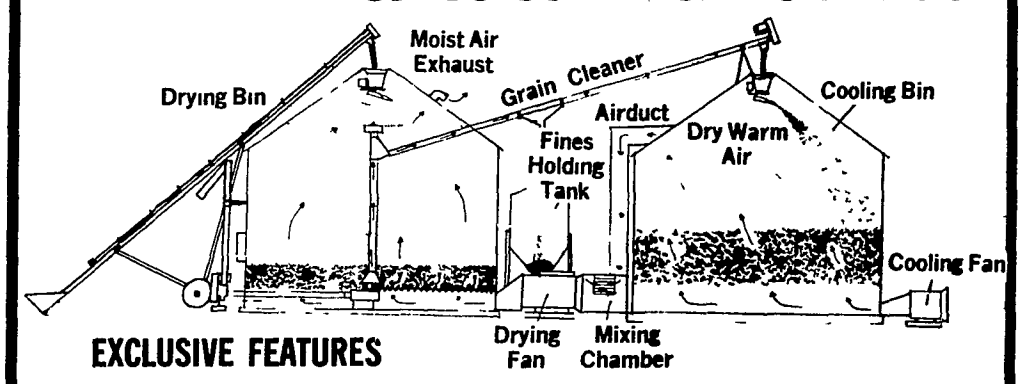
NEW AIR RECYCLING GRAIN DRYING SYSTEM
UP TO 50% FUEL SAVINGS



EXCLUSIVE FEATURES

AIR RECYCLING, uses all the warm air from the cooling bin to help dry the grain in the drying bin. [no energy is wasted].
NO HEAT LOSS, In most dryers, heat passes through a narrow column of grain and is blown into the atmosphere, but with this system all excess heat from drying stage must pass up through a 24" minimum depth of wet grain. Therefore, instead of wasting the heat, it is used in the preheating process.
PREHEATING, grain is not suddenly exposed to high heat like in most dryers, but rather is slowly preheated as it moves down to the final drying stage. This reduces drying stress and produces better grain quality.
NO STIRRING, which means less moving parts and less grain damage.
TAPERED SWEEP AUGER, removes a thin, even layer of dry grain from the drying floor as it travels around the bin.
SURGE CAPACITY, wet grain may be added to the drying bin at any time, as fast as you harvest. [no waiting around to unload]
AUTOMATIC CONTROL PANEL, contains magnetic starters, moisture control, temperature thermostats, time relay, fuses and switches which provide dependable "around the clock" automatic operation; including starting and stopping augers or bucket elevator to move dry grain to cooling bin as fast as it's being dried.
SIMPLE OPERATION, fill bin to over 24" with wet grain and push the button. The Automatic Control Panel does the rest. It will also shut down the entire operation if the wet grain depth reduces to the minimum 24" level [No babysitting required with this system].
ENCLOSED DESIGNED, bees wings and dry floating particles are trapped in this unique system, thus providing a cleaner operation and environment.
LOWER NOISE LEVEL, the drying fan is enclosed. The air mixing chamber attached to the drying fan serves as a muffler with a built in silencing feature and vacuum control adjustment.
GRAIN CLEANER, and a trash-holding tank are available as an optional feature. This provides cleaner grain and safer storage.
EFFICIENT, both the operating and initial costs are lower. Up to 50% fuel savings. Air drying is also possible at limited moisture levels.
PERFORMANCE WARRANTY, the drying capacity of this system is guaranteed in writing under a Shivvers Performance Warranty. That's how sure we are of this equipment. How can you go wrong with an offer like that?

System is comprised of proven and dependable brand name equipment.

Gratz Fair open class swine results posted

GRATZ - The swine competition at the Gratz Fair took place the Wednesday of fair week. Six breeds of animals were shown in the open show with the following results:

SPOTTED SWINE

The Spotted Swine open show competition at the Gratz Fair was dominated by Claire Hartman, Gratz, Pa. Hartman took the first place January boar pig division, the February boar pig, March boar pig, and the champion boar honors.

In Spotted Swine sow competition, Hartman also had first placings in the January sow, February sow, and April sow categories. The Dauphin County breeder then took grand champion sow of this breed, as well as young herd, get of sire, and produce of dam.

Giving Hartman competition was Kevin Brown, Leckkill, Pa. Brown had the reserve champion boar, first place March sow, and reserve champion sow.

YORKSHIRE

In Yorkshire competition, the Preston Bankert family, Red Lion, kept it "all in the family" at the Gratz fair.

In boar competition, Wayne Bankert had the first place January, March, and champion boar pigs. Michael Bankert won the first placings in the February and April boar pigs, taking the reserve championship title, as well.

With sows, Wayne Bankert had the first place January, March, and reserve champion sows, as well as first place get of sire.

Michael came out on top with the grand champion sow as well as produce of dam, February sow, and April sow.

HAMPSHIRE

The Bankerts also swept all Hampshire classes. Preston and Michele alternated wins in all sow and boar classes with Preston taking the champion boar and reserve champion sow and Michele winning the reserve champion boar and champion sow titles.

LANDRACE

The Landrace competition had only one exhibitor. Michele Bankert took all placings.

BERKSHIRE

The open class Berkshire competition had one exhibitor - Dennis Grumbine, Myerstown, Pa.

CHESTER WHITE

Dennis Grumbine was also the only exhibitor in the Chester White competition.

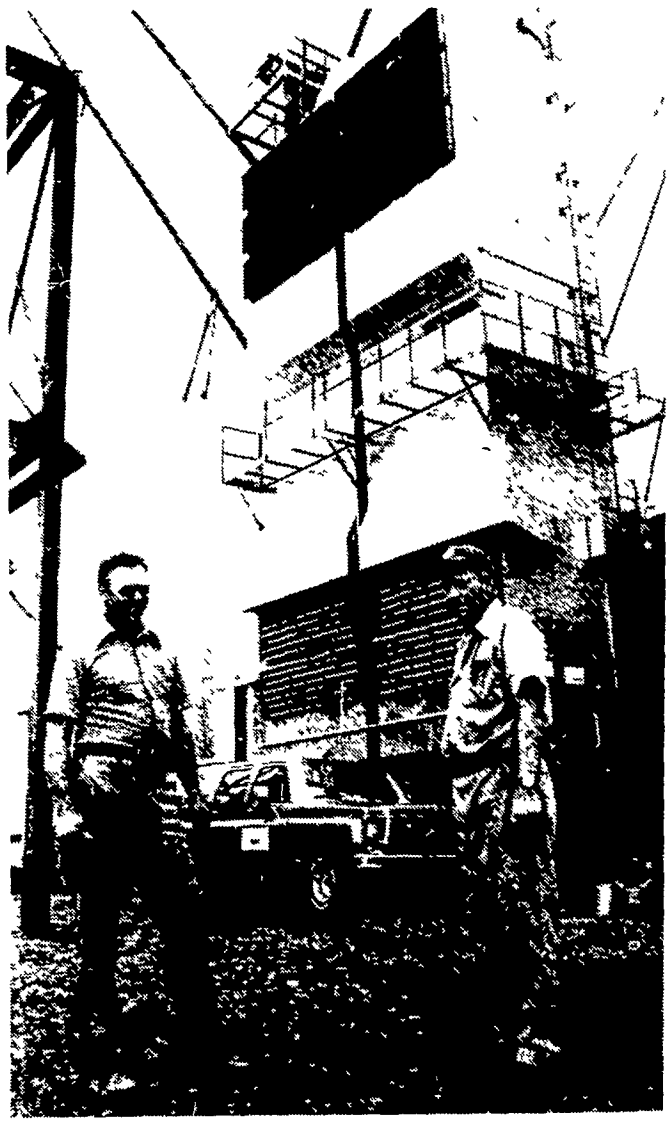
White Horse Grain Company expands

COCHRANVILLE - Following a recent merger between White Horse Grain Company, near here, and the Breckbill Farm Seed and Supply Company of Oxford, the combined companies will be providing expanded seed drying and storgae facilities for their business area, which extends into Lancaster County and the upper regions of Maryland's Eastern Shore. The name of the merged companies will continue to be White Horse Grain.

The aim of the newly formed company will be to improve service to grain farmers in the area, say Richard Breckbill and Robert Hood, each of whom own one-half interest in the firm. Breckbill is a former Lancaster Countian who started his own farm store near Oxford 11 years ago. Robert Hood formed White Horse Grain nine years ago with his previous partner, Dwight Rath. Hood describes himself as a man who has farmed all his life, while Breckbill is still an active dairyman and a director for the Chester County DHIA program. He's also vice president of his county's Extension Service.

One of the first things Hood and Breckbill did to update their facilities was to install a new 1500 bushel per hour gas-fired grain dryer. They believe it will help them improve service in an area which has become a traditional bottleneck for many grain handlers. "We want to get the farmer unloaded so he can get back out," said Hood, adding that his company also offers storage, hauling and combining services. "We hope to be able to take grain now from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.," Hood continued, explaining that he formerly had to close down at 11 a.m. while continuing to process grains 24 hours per day during the harvest season. His total storage capacity is around 200,000 bushels, which is nearly triple of what it was nine years ago when White Horse Grain Company first went into business.

Breckbill notes that White Horse Grain is one of the few companies in his area which handles both shelled and ear corn. They hope to be able to handle a million bushels of grain during their first year of operation.



Richard Breckbill, left, and Robert Hood, owners of White Horse Grain Company in Chester County, stand in front of their new grain dryer, which will allow them to give faster and improved services to grain growers in the area. They offer a custom drving service, as well as storage facilities.

Miller joins $500,000 club

LITITZ - Huskee-Bilt Construction Co., manufacturers of farm and commercial facilities, has announced that their regional representative in this area, Mervin Miller, Lititz R2, is the first person in the country to exceed $500,000 worth of sales this year. Miller surpassed that figure in August and received a congratulatory note from national headquarters in Monmouth, Ill.

"Congratulations on your outstanding work during the past eight months of 1977," wrote Don Geiser, national sales manager for Huskee-Bilt. "This is truly an outstanding job," Geiser continued, adding that Miller is thus a member of the Half Million Dollar Club.

HART - THE NEW WHEAT

Hart Wheat is a new variety, a high yielder, and a medium early type. It has very good straw, medium short in length and is a bearded wheat. The 1977 crop had a high test weight per bushel and averaged a 15 per cent increase in yield over Redcoat Wheat. Hart can be combined a few days ahead of Redcoat and is moderately resistant to Hessian Fly. Hart responds to fertilizer and management much like Redcoat. It is a wheat that you should check out.

Farm Credit officers meet

YORK – Officers of the ork Farm Credit ssociations met this week Norfolk, Va. with their ounterparts throughout the altimore District of the arm Credit System to ssess the outlook for gricultural financing.

Managers, loan officers, and their families from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia and Puerto Rico focused on the role of cooperatives with the theme, "Cooperatives, Free Enterprise with a Difference."

The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, of which the York Association is a part, are cooperatives and part of the largest financial cooperative in the world.

National Farm Credit Governor Donald E. Wilkinson outlined the expected massive increase in farm credit demand in the future. Already larger than the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, the Farm Credit System, with loans outstanding of 40 billion dollars, expects to reach 100 billion dollars in 10 years, according to Wilkinson.

The York Association which serves farmers in Adams, Cumberland, Fulton, Franklin, Perry, and York County presently has loans outstanding totaling $64,775,500.

It's expected that farm credit demands locally will keep pace with the sharp rise expected nationally. The ever increasing costs of farm inputs and rising land values are the main forces behind the increased demand for farm credit.

Statewide convention Oct. 18

Laura Heuser speaker for Penn's Agri-Women

CAMP HILL - The dynamic Laura Heuser, nationally acclaimed spokeswoman for agriculture, will light up the stage for the first statewide convention of Penn's Agri-women to be held on October 18 at the Penn Harris Motor Inn, Camp Hill.

Mrs. Heuser, a mother of five from Hartford, Mich., is the 1973 winner of the "Spokesman of the Year for Agriculture" award sponsored jointly by Chevron Company and Farm Chemicals Magazine. She is also a lay speaker for the United Methodist Church.

For the past five years Mrs. Heuser has been a banquet speaker, appearing in 25 states and Canada, as well as on two agriculture seminars at sea in the Caribbean.

She was one of the founders of the Women for the Survival of Agriculture (W.S.A.), and was instrumental in the organization of W.S.A. chapters in New York, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Washington.

A member of the board of directors of the Agriculture Council of America, her goal, as well as that of the Council, is to inform the public about the American farmer.

The wife of an orchardist, Mrs. Heuser has also directed her time and talents into the Leadership Workshop in the apply indsutry.

Also speaking at the Penn's Agri-women convention with Mrs. Heuser will be Gail McPherson, New Park, who has also received the "Spokesman of the Year for Agriculture" award.

Laura Heuser

Two other activities slated for the day-long event are a panel of lobbyists from a wide range of organizations, and a skit created for the active farm woman.

Penn's Agri-Women, a non-partisan action organization whose function is to be a voice for the active farmer, is affiliated with the American Agri-Women (AAW). AAW is a coalition of farm and ranch women's organizations as well as individuals united to communicate and promote agriculture for the benefit of the American people and the world.

Anyone interested in attending the statewide Pennsylvania convention must contact Ethel Gross, Manchester, Pa., phone 717-266-3424. Although the deadline for tickets is October 1, Mrs. Gross will accept reservations up to October 10 for any remaining available space.

Product liability threatens agribusinesses

Senators Richard Snyder, left, from Lancaster and Franklin Kury, Sunbury, flank PennAg's executive secretary Donald Park. The three discussed insurance and tax issues as they pertain to Pennsylvania agribusiness.

LANCASTER - The irony of questionable product liability suits is they tend to stifle development of newer and safer products, Richard Goldberg told the 99th annual PennAg Industries Association convention last week at the Host Corral.

PennAg is a trade association of more than 400 Pennsylvania agri-business firms.

Goldberg, a lawyer and president of the Goldberg Feed & Grain Co., West Fargo, N.D., is a vigorous campaigner for product liability reform.

"If the disaster in product liability is allowed to continue," Goldberg said, "we're going to see jobs disappearing. One company in my state closed its door when their product liability insurance premiums turned out to be more than their net earnings for last year.

"I know of two other companies that have shut down because they couldn't afford the skyrocketing cost of product liability insurance," he said.

The North Dakotan noted that $2.6 billion and $2.5 billion dollars were paid during 1974 and 1975, respectively, as a result of product liability suits. "People are demanding more safety and better products, and the judicial system is providing the climate for suing," Goldberg exclaimed. He faults the judicial branch of government for the run-away problem but charges the other two branches of government for failing to do anything to stop it.

Goldberg's primary suggestion for curing the problem is for agribusinessmen to get out and talk about the situation.

There are 40 state legislatures across the country considering bills to put limits on product liability suits, including Pennsylvania, Goldberg said

Pennsylvania Senate Bill 585 was one of the topics discussed by a three-member panel composed of Sens. Franklin Kury, a Democrat from Sunbury; Richard Snyder, Republican from Lancaster, and moderator Donald W. Parke, PennAg's executive vice-president.

Snyder said the product liability situation would not be in the mess it's in if the Supreme Court hadn't written the doctrine of strict liability. Under that doctrine, manufactures can be held responsible for just about anything that can go wrong at any time after the product was made, whether or not the user is at fault, has altered the product or has ignored instructions for use, he said.

Kury said his impression of Senate Bill 585 is that it deals with a problem that must be solved, but he said there needs to be a balance between the rights of consumers and the rights of manufacturers.

Parke pointed out that the bill would not allow suits to be brought under the doctrine of strict liability, it would place time limits for bringing suits, it would prohibit punitive damages and it would limit attorney fees, among other provisions.

According to Snyder, the product liability bill has not yet moved through the Senate, and before it does, it will likely be amended in a Fashion not liked by industry. He did not elaborate

In other areas of discussion before the PennAg group, Snyder was critical of the way Pennsylvania's state budget is handled, and added opposition to any proposals for a tax increase. He exclaimed

PENNSYLVANIA WHEAT GROWERS

S76
Soft Red Winter Wheat

Developed through the Pioneer Research Program.
Available for sale this fall.

Four years of testing by Pioneer indicates that S76 is an exceptionally high yielding variety. Long, bearded heads with large, plump grains increase yield potential. In addition to high yield potential, S76 has very good standability, excellent milling and baking characteristics.

October 1 begins our commodity month. Starting this week we have lamb recipes, after which we will feature poultry, beef, pork, and egg dishes.

This is the time for all the product promoters in our reading audience to push their commodity by sending in their family's favorite way of enjoying it.

On the whole, the majority of this week's recipes were supplied by the American Lamb Council and the Lamb Education Center in Denver, Colo. If you enjoy these recipes and would like to write for more, the address is: American Lamb Council, 909 17th St., Denver, Colo. 80202

SWEET—SOUR LAMB BALLS

1-½ pounds lamb, ground
1 envelope onion soup mix
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Pineapple liquid
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 (No. 3) can pineapple chunks, drained

Combine lamb and soup mix, form lightly into balls Brown into skillet; drain off fat as it accumulates. Combine remaining ingredients except pineapple. Cook, stirring gently, until clear and slightly thickened Pour over meatballs Simmer, covered, for 30 minutes; add pineapple. Heat thoroughly Yields 12 dinner meatballs or 75 cocktail-size meatballs.

LEG OF LAMB WITH APRICOT STUFFING

1 five pound boned leg of lamb
1-⅓ cup packaged instant rice
1-⅓ cup sliced dried apricots
two-thirds cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 cup chicken bouillon
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon crushed rosemary leaves
¼ teaspoon pepper

Mix rice, apricots, celery, parsley, seasonings, and bouillon. Let stand for 10 minutes for liquid to absorb. Stuff lamb with half the mixture; wrap remaining in aluminum foil. Secure lamb with string and skewers. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake at 325 degrees F. for three hours or until meat thermometer registers 175 degrees F. Bake foil-wrapped stuffing for one hour. Serve lamb on platter with extra stuffing. Prepare gravy, if desired. Yields eight to 10 servings.

LAMB STROGANOFF II

1½ pounds boneless lamb shoulder, thinly sliced
Seasoned flour
⅓ cup butter
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
½ cup chopped onions
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup commercial sour cream

Coat lamb with flour Melt butter; add lamb, garlic, and onion and cook until lamb is lightly browned on all sides Add mushrooms and salt and pepper. Cover and cook 20 minutes over low heat, stirring occasionally. Add sour cream and mix well. Serve with cooked rice, if desired Serves six.

CORNISH PASTIES

½ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
¾ cup beef bouillon
2 cups finely diced cooked lamb
1 cup finely diced cooked potatoes
½ cup finely diced cooked carrots
2 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
½ teaspoon each: salt, thyme
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 packages (10 oz. each) pie crust mix
Milk

In large skillet, saute onion in butter until crisp-tender; stir in flour. Gradually add bouillon; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils. Stir in lamb, potato, carrot, parsley and seasonings. Remove from heat and allow mixture to cool,. Meanwhile, prepare pie crust mix according to package directions Roll out to one-eighth inch thickness Cut into six inch circles using a saucer. Place ⅓ cup meat mixture in center of each piece of pastry; fold pastry over filling to make a half circle. Seal the edges with a fork. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Brush pasties with milk. Bake in 425 degrees F. (hot) oven 25 to 30 minutes, or until pasties are lightly browned. Makes 10 pasties.

Now you can SEALSTOR® feed for both your livestock and your land.

The Oxygen Limiting SEALSTOR System
For the past 27 years, the makers of Sealstor systems have manufactured thousands of quality glass-fused-to-steel products for agriculture and industry Today, we offer a complete range of sizes in forage and grain structures Before you buy any oxygen-limiting, top-loading, bottom-unloading feeding system, check Sealstor's features
Pound for pound, our fiber-glass roof is stronger than steel It has fewer panels, fewer seams, fewer bolts It absorbs less heat The steps are recessed in the roof for safety and the dome shape provides more useable storage space (Grain and Forage structures — 6,000 to 42,000 bushels)
Our rugged, sweep-arm auger unloader has no costly chains to break "Short-arming" is unnecessary Yet you get higher volume, push-button feed delivery

The SEALSTOR Liquid Manure Control Center
Sealstor offers the widest range of sizes in glass-steel liquid manure storage structures. You can start with a 10' or 15' above-ground height and later expand to a 15' or 20' height For additional strength, all vertical seams are double-bolted For more positive containment, more sealant is used (Liquid Manure storage tanks — 60,000 to 750,000 gallons)
It's your money. Send for the facts We believe you'll select Sealstor

it's not needed, citing too much waste in government, particularly in the areas of public assistance, as the major reason He noted that welfare payments are even being made to unborn babies Kury says new tax revenues are needed to support state programs, notably funding for state universities and colleges

On the latter, Snyder suggested professors at universities spend one hour more per week teaching, thus allowing for greater efficiency in the system According to Snyder, the average time spent teaching by a professor is 10 hours per week

Both legislators were in agreement that real estate taxes are outmoded and that changes should be forthcoming Kury favors a property tax which supports nothing other than police and fire department

LAMB STEW

1-½ pounds lean boneless lamb shoulder, cut into one-inch cubes
3 cups water
1 clove garlic, minced
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 carrots, cut in two-inch lengths
6 tiny onions
3 small potatoes, halved
10 ounces frozen peas
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Flour meat; brown in small amount of hot fat. Add next four ingredients. Cover; simmer (don't boil) one and one-half hours or until meat is almost tender. Add carrots, onions, and potatoes. Cook until done, about 20 minutes. Add peas and parsley the last eight minutes, so that they can warm up. Season to taste. Makes five to six servings.

NOODLE-RICE LAMB-PILAF

½ cup fine noodles
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup rice
2-½ cups hot chicken broth or water
½ to one teaspoon salt
1 cup minced cooked lamb
1 rib celery, minced
1 carrot, minced or shredded
⅓ cup raisins

Saute noodles in butter in three-quart heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, until golden. Add rice, broth, and salt; bring to boil, stir once, cover and simmer 16 minutes or until rice is almost tender and most of the liquid is absorbed. Stir in lamb, celery, and raisins. Cover and simmer two minutes longer or until lamb is heated, rice is tender, and vegetables are crisp-tender. Makes four servings. Note: if desired, use one package (9 ounces) rice-pilaf mix, following package directions. When rice is almost tender, stir in lamb, celery, carrot, and raisins, and continue as above.

LAMB AND RICE IN GREEN-PEPPER HALVES

1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
1 cup water
1 clove garlic, minced or crushed
1 teaspoon salt
½ to one teaspoon basil or preferred herb
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups ground or minced cooked lamb
1 cup cooked rice
4 medium green peppers, halved lengthwise and seeded

Stir together tomato sauce, water, garlic, salt, basil, and pepper. Combine lamb and rice and stir in about ¾ cup sauce or enough to moisten. Place pepper halves in 12x8x2-inch baking dish and fill with lamb-rice mixture. Pour remaining sauce on and around peppers, cover and bake in 375 degrees F. oven 35 to 40 minutes or until peppers are tender. Makes four servings. To cook in microwave oven, prepare as above, reducing water to ⅓ cup. Put filled pepper halves in 12x8x2-inch glass baking dish and cook eight minutes. Cover with remaining sauce and cook 10 to 15 minutes or until peppers are tender.

Shawn Charles wins W. Lampeter hog show

Gerald Hess, Conestoga R1, proudly exhibits the trophy he earned as being named top showman of the day in the swine show.

By KENDACE BORRY

LAMPETER - Shawn Charles, a 13 year old member of the Penn Manor FFA, dominated the West Lampeter Community Fair swine show by showing the champion individual animal and the champion and reserve champion pen of two pigs

A first year member of FFA, the son of Mr and Mrs Robert Charles, Lancaster R2, the youth showed a purebred Yorkshire gilt weighing 220 lbs to the championship The champion pen of two were heavyweight crossbred Chester Whites while the reserve champions were Duroc crossbreds The seven swine he showed came from his cousin, Clifford Charles.

Gerald Hess, Conestoga R1, a first year FFA member, was named champion showman of the swine show The 13 year old member, who had previously shown at the Lancaster Hog Show, also won the reserve champion individual animal at the West Lampeter Fair. That hog was a Yorkshire-Hampshire crossbred also from the medium weight class.

Judge for the show was Gene Sweigart, a Duroc breeder from Halifax, Pa. The swine entered and shown were sold at auction September 30, as part of the West Lampeter Fair.

Y.F. hold tillage day

DOVER - About 75 members of the Dover Young Farmers organization recently combined business with pleasure when they met for their second annual Tillage Day on September 20. Hosting the field event was Ashecombe Dover Dairy at the farm of John Bucher, N. Salem Church Road, Dover.

Six independent equipment dealers hauled in the latest in tillage machinery for demonstrations on 30 acres intended for seeding. During the morning session, company representatives explained the use of the innovative machines. Included were chisel plows, heavy duty disks, a vibrashank harrow, and rototillage type implements.

After lunch the young farmers were allowed to try their hand at using the machines, according to Wayne Myers, N. Salem Church Road, Dover, who chaired the tillage demonstration.

By the time 3 p.m. rolled around, and it was time for the young farmer members to head home, a 30 acre field had been readied for planting, with 10 acres already seeded in barley.

In addition to viewing the machinery on display, visitors could stop at commercial exhibits placed by Master Mix feed company, and the Dekalb and O's Gold seed companies.

On November 9, the Dover Young Farmers will sponsor a Hay and Forage Show for chapter members at the Dover High School. County Agent John Smith will judge the entries.

Baby beef club lists plans

WAYNESBORO – The Franklin County 4-H Baby Beef round-up committee recently met to make final arrangements for the Round-Up Sale of October 10, 1977 at the Greencastle Livestock Market. The committee decided to give ribbons and wall plaques to all buyers and trophys to the top six champions.

The club members were urged to contact perspective buyers for the upcoming sale which will consist of 45 head of prime and choice steers, weighing between 900 and 1200 pounds. More than 30 buyers supported the outstanding youth program last year, and more buyers are needed this year because of the growth of the club. A Halloween party was planned at the home Brenda Stouffer on October 22, 1977.

The Summer activities ended with the 4-H Baby Beef and St. Thomas-Hamilton Pig Club family picnic at the Lemaster Community Center which was attended by over 100 members and their families. After a picnic lunch, youth games were played, from a peanut scramble to an all age soft-ball game, topped off with home-made ice cream.

Kutztown Grange wins state award

HARRISBURG- -The 1977 community service award of the Pennsylvania State Grange has been won by Kutztown Grange of Berks County, J. Luther Snyder, State Grange master, announced recently.

The winner was selected on the basis of its initiative and leadership in efforts to develop a medical center for the Kutztown area. Kutztown Grange joined with other civic groups in forming a non-profit group to establish the center, and helped raise funds for the project. The center was opened earlier this year.

Kutztown Grange also sponsored a Little League baseball team.

Second place in the competition was won by Franklin Grange of Fayette county for its participation in a county-wide program to assist retarded children. Franklin Grange made its building, grounds and facilities available to the Parents and Friends League of Fayette County Retarded, Inc., for the project.

Third place went to Hookstown Grange of Beaver County which operated the 31st annual Hookstown Fair and used the proceeds for a number of civic projects and scholarships.

Fourth place went to Kennett Grange of Chester County for its efforts in sponsoring and initiating area meetings to determine the practicability of using sewage sludge on farmland.

Certificates and U.S. Savings Bonds will be presented to the winners at the October 26 session of the annual state grange convention in Danville.

The Kutztown Grange's project will be judged at the National Grange Convention in Greensboro, N.C. in November.

Conservation board meets

LANCASTER - The Board of Directors of the Lancaster County Conservation District recently held their monthly board meeting. Included in the meeting was the annual planning meeting, setting up the objectives for 1978.

Included in Lancaster County Conservation District's objectives for the coming year include projects under the headings of erosion and sediment control, education and youth, district image and public relations, districts operations and personnel, wagershed development and water resources, and local, regional, state, and national action.

Some of the work proposed includes setting up education laboratories, sponsoring a public speaking contest, having television programs, sponsoring conservation tours, supporting a land use study, sponsoring another conservation field day with plowing and land judging contests, and helping form watershed associations where needed

Import poultry list could include Israel

WASHINGTON, D C. - Carold Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services, announced recently a proposal for Israel to become eligible to export poultry products to the United States

Officials of the Food Safety and Quality Service (FSQS), U.S. Department of Agriculture said that the proposal is based on Israel's having a poultry inspection system at least equal to that of the U.S. This conclusion was reached after a point-by-point examination of Israel's poultry inspection laws and regulations and on-site reviews of inspection procedures

Anyone wishing to comment on the proposed addition of Israel to the eligible list may do so by filing a statement, in duplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, USDA, Washington, D C. 20250 by Nov 22 Copies of comments will be available for public inspection at the Hearing Clerk's office, Room 1077, South Blds., USDA.

Ban enlarged

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Spread of a recently discovered breeding disease of horses has caused the U.S. Department of Agriculture to include Australia in a temporary ban on horse imports.

The ban, imposed September 9 already excludes imports of horses from England, Ireland and France. Today's action also clarifies the ban against English horses to include imports from all parts of the United Kingdom (England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and the Isle of Man).

The prohibition includes all horse imports from the affected countries, except for geldings.

Murrens

that "the quality of cattle has improved tremendously compared to 30 years ago. Herds have improved, and therefore 4-H'ers have the opportunity to pick better quality animals." But, he said, "Fitting and showing contests haven't changed much over the years. We always had the spirit of doing the best job possible. Methods may have changed but the work is as tough and keen as ever."

Tom said he has mixed emotions about children starting in 4-H at age 8. "I like to see them start early; but often a dairy animal grows faster than the kids grow. No matter what age they begin, they can't show a mature animal to its best advantage for several years. But the experience of participating is always there."

Theresa said, "Children are maturing faster so most eight-year-olds can handle the project work in the home economics club." She said her club faces a dropout problem when 4-H'ers reach 14; Tom said in the dairy club the problem is not so acute because projects continue and hold the youngster's interest.

"What you put into it is what you get out of it The opportunity is there if they want to take the time to pursue it," Theresa says She was especially full of praise for countywide events saying, "If you can carpool and go to the events, you get a chance to meet other people "

Theresa is currently a member of the County Extension Board and has served in various other 4-H related posts. She is also in the Little Rock Square Dance club and is an active member of the Anunciation Roman Catholic Church in McSherrystown, as are the other Murren familes.

Tom and his wife Marian have nine children who have been active in 4-H. Five have completed their 10 years of club work. Tom said, "It was valuable for them because they participated in experiences they would never have been able to have otherwise, like exchange trips and statewide events.

As a 4-H'er Tom attended Leadership School and went to Washington D.C. to National 4-H Camp. The Murrens are milking about 20 Guernseys, and while Tom has previously served on many 4-H related committees, he has given up most activities since he has an off-the-farm job. Their 120 acre farm is at Hanover, R4.

Tom said, "One of the satisfactions as a leader is to see boys and girls grow up and take their place as part of the community, not only as farmers but also as businessmen and homemakers." Both Theresa and Tom said they have had 4-H'ers who have become 4-H leaders

There is no doubt that the Murren family has had an impact on the 4-H community in Adams County. Even without the continuing leadership provided by her immediate family, the late Rose Murren's name has a place there. An award has been established by her family in her memory, and each year an outstanding girl receives the Rose Murren Memorial Award, which consists of a book related to the winner's project area Tom and Theresa explained that the award, voted by leaders, goes to someone who remains "unsung," and who may not be recognized in other areas

And so, through the award and through many hours of selfless service, the Murrens are contributing to 4-H work in Adams County. The benefit has been spread over many years and will continue to touch the lives of many in the future.

Broiler seminar scheduled

NEWARK, Del. - The 1977 Delmarva Broiler Housing Seminar has been scheduled for Wednesday, October 5, at the University of Delaware Substation in Georgetown. The program starts at 8:30 a.m. and will adjourn at 3:15 p.m.

Included in this year's seminar will be talks on "Factors Affecting Structural Design of Broiler Housing" by Thomas Kent, a vice president of the BARCO Steel Corporation; "Future Electric Rates and Their Effect on Broiler Industry", by Walter Andrews, supervisor of Agricultural Services for the Delmarva Power and Light Company; and "Investment Tax Credit - Where Do We Stand?", by Edward H. Ralph, executive secretary of the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI).

There will also be presentations on the econmic levels of broiler house insulation, alternate energy sources for broiler brooding, the principles of fan operation in broiler houses and multi-stage broiler growout operations. A panel from the Universities of Delaware and Maryland and the Virginia Polytechnic Institute will also give an update on current broiler housing research.

The seminar is open to all interested individuals. There is a registration fee of $8 per person. The fee includes lunch, a copy of the proceedings. coffee and donuts.

The Broiler Housing Seminar is an annual event sponsored jointly by the cooperative extension services of the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland and DPI.

License suspended

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The produce trading license of a Jessup, Md. firm was suspended on August 12 by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, after it failed to pay a $5,155 reparation award issued by USDA in favor of a Maryland shipper for several lots of fruits and vegetables shipped from June through October of 1976. USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service ordered payment of the award after the firm, C & T Produce Co., Inc., failed to answer charges in the complaint.

Buck track held nat'l. tractor pull

THE BUCK - The nation's only tractor pulling stadium, located 10 miles south of Lancaster along Route 272, was the site of a national tractor pulling contest last weekend. Tractors and visitors from several states were represented during the two-day pulls. Midwestern tractor pullers were especially well represented, with nearly half of the top finishers being from that area. Midwestern tractors shut out eastern tractors entirely, as a matter of fact, in two classes, those being the 9000 pound modified and the 12,000 pound super stock.

The best any of the Lancaster County puller could do was capture a first place in the 5000 pound super stock class. Tim Stauffer accomplished that victory with his Deutz 8006, a tractor which received national recognition a few weeks ago at a national pull in Ohio. Stauffer was first there too.

Regular Buck pullers were well represented in a number of classes, as several thousand fans cheered for their favorite tractors and drivers. Said to be the fastest growing rural sport in America, tractor pulling has reallly caught on in southeastern Pennsylvania and other areas. It's a noisy event. Some wouldn't have it any other way. There's lots of smoke too, as some machines use up several gallons of fuel in one 300-foot run. It's all a part of the tractor pulling atmosphere, if you'll pardon the pun.

Tractor pulling is catching on in the rest of the world as well. Last week, for example, two Lancaster County machines were shipped to the Netherlands to be part of a show there. A separate article on that appears elsewhere in this issue.

One of the more spectacular machines last week's visitors to the Buck track got to see was a turbine-powered tractor which had an appearnace and sound all its own. It screamed to life twice last weekend, with Art Arfons of Akron, Ohio behind the controls, and on both occasions this team of man and machine finished well ahead of the competition. In another class, competitors came with inches of each other.

Following is how the men and their pulling machines did at the Buck last week.

9000 pound modified

1. Art Arfons, turbine, full pull, and 266 feet, 8 inches; 2. Ron Barga, Ansonia, Ohio, Allison aircraft, full pull and 229-3; 3. Norm Smith, Versailles, Ohio, Allison aircraft, 264-9.

12,000 pound super stock

1. Danny Dean, South Charleston, Ohio, IH 1066, full pull; 2. Norm Green, Indianapolis, Ind., AC D-21, full pull, hook broke 3. Marhsall Myre, Seneca, Ill., IH 966, 241-7.

5000 pound super stock

1. Tim Stauffer, Ephrata, Deutz 8006, full pull; 2. Tom Urmson, Transfer, Farmall 460, 219-2; 3. Jim Brubaker, Quarryville, AC 180, 204-8.

7000 pound super stock

1. Bill Rockefeller, Phelps, N.Y., JD 4010, 272; 2. Leonard Thomas, Boonesboro, Md., JD 4020; 3. Tim Stauffer, Ephrata, Deutz 8006, 263-11.

500 pound modified

1. John Hileman, Rockford, Ohio, Cockshutt 40 with 454 Chevy engine, 248-7; 2. Gary Mills, Fallston, Md., AC with 427 Chevy, 242; 3. Larry Jones, Washington, Ind., Ford with 454 Chevy, 228-10.

7000 modified

1. Art Arfons, 271; 2. (tie) Fuhrman Brothers, Dacatur, Ind , Cockshutt 50 with 454 Chevy, 261-10; Dave Hileman, Rockford, Ohio, John Deere with two 454 Chevys, 261-10.

9000 pound super stock

1. Danny Dean, South Charleston, Ohio, IH 1066, 267, 2. Tom Middleton, Ridgely, Md., IH 1066, 253-8; 3. Vern Over, Sligo, Pa., IH 856, 251-3.

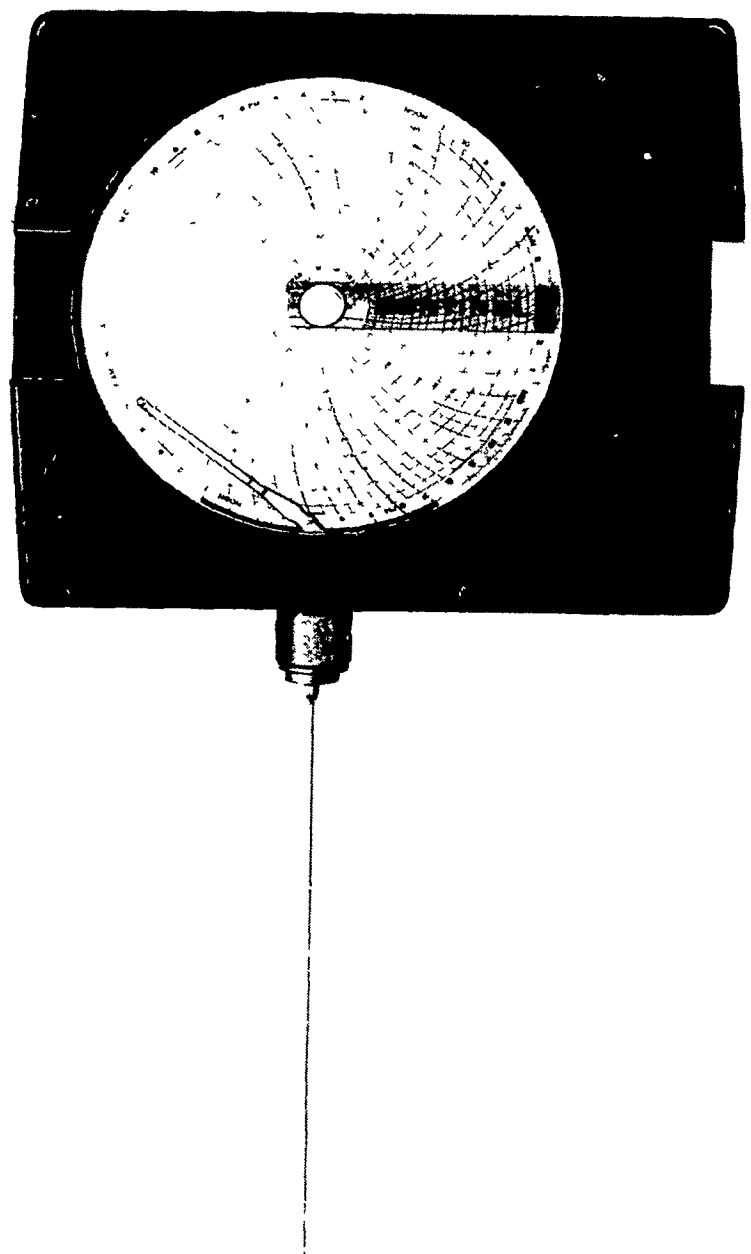
THE SENTINEL



Round-the-clock guardian of stored milk temperature

If you depend upon your milk check for a living, protect that income by insuring milk quality.

The least expensive, single-payment insurance obtainable is the Sentinel — the heavy-duty, 10-inch recorder which charts round-the-clock temperature of your milk-cooling or holding tank.

Assure yourself — and your processor — that proper milk temperature is always maintained.

Keep a permanent log of compressor operation and tank cooling or pre-cooling efficiency, from first filling to pickup.

Cleaning temperatures — increasingly questioned by sanitarians — are recorded on the same chart.

At little added cost, the Sentinel is available with provision for actuating an alarm or warning light if milk holding temperature rises above pre-set level.

Remember — if it prevents the loss of only one tank of milk, the Sentinel has paid its own way.

4-H offers a variety of benefits to 4-H'ers

By JOANNE SPAHR

LEBANON - Relaxing in his parents' suburban home outside of Lebanon, Ken Hoke, 19, the son of Mrs and Mrs Dennis Hoke, 1030 E. Maple Street, Lebanon, stopped to ponder the question for a second and then replied, "It's really hard for me to pinpoint the greatest benefit that I've gotton from 4-H - it's a combination of things, really."

Ken, who is a sophomore at Penn State, Berks Campus, majoring in geography, is in his last year of 4-H and has been a well known face on the 4-H scene for years

In his 10 years of clubwork in which he has taken mostly gardening and horticulture projects, he has been the president of both the Norsolebco 4-H club and the Lebanon County Teen Council, as well as holding other leadership responsibilities in these organizations.

Extending his involvement in 4-H, he also participated in state 4-H days at Penn State for five years, has taken part in the 4-H leadership Congress for three years, and participated in the 4-H citizenship shortcourse in 1976.

"4-H teaches you to achieve and strive for a goal as much as you can. It also helps you to make new friends and it broadens your world through the various trips you can make," he remarked, reflecting about the many benefits derived from the organization.

Continuing his thought, he noted, "I would say that almost every skill, in general, that you will ever use is developed or broadened in 4-H."

In particular, Ken was introduced to financial responsiblities such as bookkeeping at the tender age of nine as a result of 4-H.

"My first year I took strawberry and vegetable projects," he said. "That meant that I had to keep track of supplies and profits. And, I know I wouldn't have learned to do that at the age of nine if it hadn't been for 4-H."

Ken Hoke, a 4-H'er from Lebanon County who is in his last year of 4-H, checks his three acres of strawberry plants which were marketed via "pick-your-own" this year

Ken also figures that his public speaking skills were heightened through clubwork.

"The demonstrations really helped me," he said. "I did them for five or six years when I first started in 4-H, and by the time I was 15 or 16 I was over the fear of getting up in front of the club."

For the most part, Ken did demonstrations on the county level, but he did have one crack at district competition.

The judging teams on which he participated for four years at Penn State are another plus as far as Ken's concerned. According to this active 4-H'er, judging teams teach the members how to put forth a team effort as well as an individual effort. They also give incentive to learn more about the general processes of horticulture as well as teach the 4-H'ers about plants with which they might otherwise never have had contact.

Of course, there are always fringe benefits to the judging teams, according to Ken. For instance, the individuals that take part in the teams come away with a better idea of what a judge will look for at the county fairs. And, even though there is much competition midst the 4-H'ers at state days, it doesn't hamper the development of good friendships.

"I've found, for the most part, that at 4-H days, people aren't just out for themselves," remarks Ken. They also come to see their friends

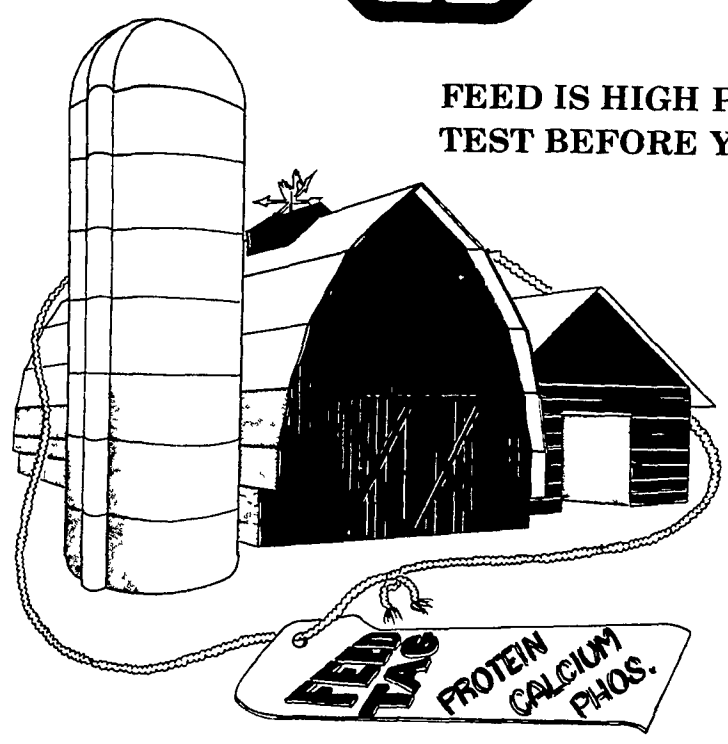
AGRI-KING
KEY TO PROFIT



FEED IS HIGH PRICED...DON'T WASTE IT!
TEST BEFORE YOU INVEST!

There isn't any way you can feed a balanced ration unless you test your home grown grains and roughages for protein, calcium, and phosphorus.

Then feed according to the nutritional values of your crops, in relation to the nutritionally balanced needs of your livestock

In this way you will be utilizing your crops to their fullest extent, cutting other unnecessary feed costs and increasing your livestock profits. Agri-King feeding programs put it all together for you.

Tim Beck captures title of outstanding 4-H'er

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

SEVEN VALLEYS - When you're eight years old and deliver your first 4-H project to the formidable competition at the York Fair, it could be a rather overwhelming experience. But it was just the beginning of a successful exhibiting career for a Seven Valleys R2 young man who was recently selected the Outstanding 4-H member at the York Fair.

Tim Beck, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beck, exhibited a handyman project on that first York Fair entry occasion nine years ago. Several years of baby beef exhibiting have now made him an accomplished competitor in the showring. His Angus-Chianina crossbred took the championship of the lightweight division, while he was chosen reserve champion showman and placed second in beef showmanship.

During the special Pennsylvania Polled Hereford show at this year's York Fair, Tim served as ringside announcer. He can frequently be found helping the younger 4-H members prepare their animals for exhibition and has won numerous fitting awards.

Active in countywide 4-H activities, Tim has been president of the Baby Beef club in the York area for the past two years and also handles the presidency of the Loganville Community Club.

The young beef showman has also earned a reputation in meats and livestock judging competition.

"When I was little, I often went along to the judging training sessions," he recalls. "And the teams often came to our place to practice, too." The family operates the Richard Beck and Sons butcher shop at Seven Valleys R2.

The 1975 meats judging team, of which Tim was a member, won first place in the state contest, and then battled to third place during 4-H nationwide competition that same year. Tim is now the assistant coach for the county team. He hopes to use his York Fair award, an expense-paid trip to a national livestock exhibit of the recipient's choice, to accompany the meats judging team to their national competition. That's scheduled during the Royal Livestock Exposition in Kansas City the week of November 6.

According to Tony Dobrosky, assistant York County Extension agent, the award is presented to a county 4-H member who is "an outstanding member taking part in the fair competition." The selection was judged on 4-H blueforms which had been submitted earlier and on the basis of personal interviews. Qualities that the judging board looked for included helpfullness to other exhibitors, interest, participation and promotion of the fair, leadership, and other 4-H activities.

The panel of judges included representatives of both the York Fair and the county 4-H leaders. Daniel Shive represented the livestock superintendent's office, while John Jermyn participated for the board of managers.

Mrs. Donald Flory w chosen to judge for the 4

Handling the gavel of the 4-H presidency is a familiar role to Tim Beck, Seven Valleys R2, who was recently selected the Outstanding 4-H member at the York Fair.

Marylanders dominate cow judging

HARRISBURG - Individuals and teams from Maryland dominated the Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging contest held Monday, the opening event of the 14th Annual Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, taking two individual and all three team titles.

Judging began early Monday morning in the Farm Show's main exhibition hall with 38 teams competing in 4-H, FFA and Intercollegiate divisions. The 4-H and FFA teams had all previously been declared their home state championship teams.

The University of Maryland captured the intercollegiate trophy while the Maryland 4-H and FFA teams were wrapping up the titles in their own divisions.

The University of Maryland team scored 2017 points to top teams from Cornell University with 1956 points and the Delaware Valley College in Doylestown, Pa., which scored with 1946 points.

Top individual performance in the intercollegiate division went to Jerry Myers, Westminster, Md., of the victorious University of Mayland team, with 718 points. Sandra Haag of Cornell University placed second with 687 points and Walter Owens of the University of Wisconsin at River Falls finished third with 680 points.

In addition to Delaware Valley's third place finish, Pennsylvania State University was ninth in a field of 17 teams.

Maryland again captured the 4-H team trophy this year, finishing out with 1725 points. Kentucky's 4-H team placed second with 1715, edging out the third place team from Virginia which ended the competition with 1712 points.

The only individual to break the Maryland stranglehold on the awards was James Tipton of Taylorsville, Ky., who captured the individual 4-H honors with 595 points, five points ahead of Ralph W. Shank of Hagerstown, Md. Third place individual in 4-H judging was Keith McLean of Amsterdam, Ohio, with 590 points.

The Maryland FFA team squeaked out another victory over Virginia's entry by a 1423-1421 score. Indiana's FFA team placed third with a 1413 score.

John Doody of Damascus, Md. took individual honors in FFA judging with 509 points. Brian Davis of Middlebrook, Va., was second over Tom Milin of Cazenovia, N.Y. by 506-499.

Pennsylvania's teams finished twelfth and sixth in 4-H and FFA competitions, respectively.

Tim Beck

livestock interests, and F. Phillip Smyser represented other project areas of 4-H.

Tim, a senior at Dallastown Area High School, is undecided about what he wants to do in the future. It's apparent, though, that 4-H'ers and fairgoers can count on his support and experience in upcoming years.

Runner-up and alternate in the York Fair's Outstanding 4-H member competition was Christy Waltersdorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waltersdorff, 2050 Hollywood Drive, York. A total of five contestants took part in the judging.

Penn Stater observes Russian ag college

EDITOR'S NOTE: David Kehr, Littlestown, is a graduate of The Pennsylvania State University where he is currently enrolled in a master's program in agricultural education. He is one of 14 young agricultural specialists from the United States now in the Soviet Union as a part of the Young Agricultural Specialists Exchange Program. The program is coordinated in the United States by National 4-H Council, Washington, D.C., in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service. International Harvester Company, Chicago, Illinois has provided funding for the program. U.S. delegates' travel is financed by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State. This is David's first report.

By DAVID A. KEHR

A year ago if someone had told me that I would be attending classes at a university in the Soviet Union this Summer, I would have told them that they were crazy. Well, it actually happened!

In February I began an intensive Russian language and culture training program at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C. along with the 13 other young agriculturalists. We were preparing for a three month agricultural work study program in the Soviet Union. On June 7 we began a month long study of Soviet agriculture and Russian at the Byelorussian Agricultural Academy, one of the oldest and best agricultural academies in the country. When one of our teachers speaks no English we have no choice but to learn the language. Our agricultural lectures were usually given by department heads and assistant professors. We had many lectures on Soviet economics, agronomy, mechanization, and animal husbandry. The theory is being explained here at the academy, but the most interesting part of the program will be seeing it applied on the farms.

There are many similarities as well as differences between the Byelorussian Agricultural Academy and my alma mater, Penn State. The most noticeable difference is size. About 5000 students are enrolled at the academy. As an undergraduate student, I was accustomed to an enrollment of 30,000 students. One of the reasons for the difference in size is that the academy prepares only agricultural specialists.

Penn State offers degrees in many areas besides agriculture. Enrollment in the Penn State College of agriculture however is half the size of the enrollment of the academy. The organization of the academy is very similar to that of the college of agriculture. Each institution is divided into departments which prepare students for one of a number of different specialties. However, there is a difference in the time required to complete a degree. At Penn State the normal time required to complete a degree is four years. Here students study from four and one half years to nearly five years, depending on their major. These students also receive on the job training. Not all American students get this training, although it is becoming available to a larger number of students. Here less emphasis is put on animal agriculture and more emphasis placed on mechanization, drainage and irrigation, due to the need in this area for that type of improvement. Another difference that did not go unnoticed was the classes here last only 45 minutes. That is half as long as I experienced as an undergraduate. Of course there are two sides to every coin. The students here attend classes six hours a day, six days a week, and they do not have the freedom to arrange their own schedule as I had as an undergraduate. Students here are also assigned dormitories according to their major. Students with the same or similar majors live in the same dormitory.

All in all it has been an interesting and rewarding experience to study in a Soviet agricultural academy. I have learned much about the system and the people of the Soviet Union. I am very eager to get to the farms where I can learn about Soviet agriculture from a different angle. I hope to share future experiences with you in coming weeks.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1977
10:00 A.M.
200 HOLSTEIN COWS 200
MILK! MILK! MILK!

100 are recently fresh or due soon after the sale. The herd will be at peak production at sale time.

A YOUNG HERD

Many first and second calf heifers, also some springing first-calf heifers. Very few cows over 6 years old.

GOOD UDDERS & TYPE

A herd with particularly fine udders and lots of dairy character.

EXCELLENT HEALTH

T.B. and Blood tested for interstate shipment. The herd has been on a regular monthly program with pregnancy checks and open cow examinations, and the breeding condition is excellent.

POPULAR BLOODLINES

Registered bulls have always been used and although all cows are selling as grades nearly all are bred for several generations by registered animals.

Sale Manager's Note: In this herd of 200 the selection is excellent. These are good, sound, profitable young cows in fine working condition. They have been ridigly culled and offer an unusual opportunity for high producing replacements from one of Frederick County's oldest and best known herds. Don't miss it!

Koch wins 4-H dog care award

Gail Koch

UNIVERSITY PARK - Gail Koch, 16, of RD1, Hellertown, was recently named state dog care and training contest winner in the 1977 4-H National Awards Program.

Miss Koch will receive a transistor radio and will be eligible to attend National 4-H Congress to compete for awards at the sectional and national level.

Support of the dog car and training project is provided by the Ralston Purina Company.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Koch, she is a junior at Saucon Valley Senior High School. She has been a 4-H member for four years.

A member of the Springtown 4-H Club, she served as president, vice president, treasurer, county council representative and was a teen and project leader.

The state dog care and training contest winner completed projects in dog care and training, gardening, teen leadership rabbits, camping, and photography.

Locally, she took part in the horse show, spring roundup, fair, 4-H night, and teen leaders banquet.

Gail also participated in the Regional 4-H Teen Leaders Retreat, Regional 4-H Demonstration Day, State 4-H Capital Days, and Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Youth Institute.

Ticket deadline this week

INTERCOURSE - October 3 is the deadline to purchase tickets for the annual dinner meeting of the Lancaster County Farmers Association to be held on October 6 at the Harvest Drive Farm Motel and Restaurant, Intercourse. The meeting, set for 7 p.m., will include a business session during which time resolutions will be passed.

Tickets for the evening can be purchased from Earl Newcomer, Washington Boro R1, phone 872-2646, or any local director. Price per ticket is six dollars.

4-H offers

that they only get to visit once or twice a year.

Ken admits to having friends that he met in 4-H scattered throughout that state.

Although he hasn't participated widely in national contests or traveled on national trips, he did earn the opportunity to attend the National Junior Horticulture Association's convention in 1974 and 1976. In 1974 it was held in Washington D.C. and two years later in King of Prussia, Pa.

Although Ken does say that 4-H didn't influence his choice of careers - he would like to go into city or industrial planning - he says it did develop his gardening and horticulture hobbies.

And, this year, his hobby turned into a full fledged business when he and his family grew three acres of strawberries which they marketed by "pick-your-own."

"It was more like a money-making venture than a project," Ken says

The three acres were planted on land belonging to the city of Lebanon and located only about a mile or so from the heart of town.

"It was a pretty good year," Ken says. "We've found there's always a market for strawberries."

And what are Ken's plans now that his time is up in 4-H?

"I may become a leader," he says, although his plans aren't finalized.

S.E. Central Pa. consumers pay least in state for food

HARRISBURG - A six-month survey of food basket prices conducted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture reveals that southeast central consumers have paid the lowest average price for food in the state.

Kent Shelhamer, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture, said that the survey indicated costs for the average "food basket" in Adams, Berks, Dauphin, Lancaster and Lebanon Counties averaged $10.50 from March to August. During that period, the food basket cost in the region rose from $10.08 in March to $10.83 in July, a 75 cent increase. However, the food basket cost dropped 10 cents in August to a figure of $10.73.

Over the six-month period, the southeast central food basket average rose 65 cents or 6.4 per cent in the region, Shelhamer said.

The survey, conducted by the Department's Bureau of Rural Affairs, compared the prices of 14 sample food basket items in both rural and urban stores from March 1977 to August 1977. Shelhamer said that the survey was intended to provide consumers with retail food price information.

Champions named at Breeder's Fair

FAIR HILL, Md. - Contestants from southeastern Pennsylvania, northern Delaware, and northeastern Maryland matched animals and skills recently during the annual Breeder's Fair, held in Cecil County, Md. The event is for 4-H'ers from Chester and Delaware Counties, Pa., New Castle County, Del., and Cecil County, Md. Following are the highlights:

In the dairy cattle fitting and showing contests, breed champions were: William Henley, Ayrshires; Ned Davis, Guernseys; Dean Tyson, Holsteins; Denise Andrien, Jersey. Miss Andrien was grand champion, with the reserve honor going to Tyson.

Champion Ayrshires were exhibited by Kennard Henley, who captured junior, senior and grand titles. Ned Davis overpowered his competitiors in the Guernsey show by winning the top three championship titles. He lost out in winning many of the first places in group placings, however, relinquishing them to competing 4-H'ers Billy Duncan, (junior calf); Glenn Davis, (senior calf); Martin England, (senior yearling); Denise Andrien, (2 year old); and Dorothy Carson, (3-year old and dam and daughter pair).

The Holstein show was won by Richard Green, Jr., whose 4-year old bested a junior calf exhibited by Sherrie Lieske, which also stood as junior champion. Others who showed first-place animals in the Holstein show were: Ed Breckbill, (senior calf); Daryl Tyson, (junior yearling); Susan Pepple, (2-year old); and Alan Mason, (3-year old). Second-place ribbons were won by Nancy Yarnall, Dean Yarnall, Ed Breckbill, Eric Knutson, Donald Eastburn, and Susan Pepple.

Denise Andrien had all the champions in the Jersey show. Others to win first in various classes were: Elizabeth Wollaston, (junior calf and senior yearling), Patricia Jenkins, (junior yearling and 2-year old).

In baby beef competition, fitting and showing recognition went to: 1. Jeff Walker, 2. Ginny Coleman, 3. Bill Wylie, 4. Ken Walker, 5. Linda Coleman. Dave Wylie was chosen grand champion for fitting and showing. The reserve honor went to Barbara Sickler.

Lynda Coleman exhibited the champion Hereford and Shorthorn. Bill Wylie was tops with his Angus, leaving Dawn Gidner with the reserve champion banner. In a contest for crossbreds and other breeds, Dave Wylie led the pack, followed in order by: Ed Wylie, Dave Wylie, Barbara Sickler, Jeff Walker, and Kenneth Walker. At the conclusion of the show, Dave Wylie's entry was chosen as grand champion, while Ed Wylie received the reserve banner.

The Breeder's Show also included a dairy goat show, which had entries by Tom Csala, Ruth Weaver, and Julie Baker. Csala had all the champions in the show, but didn't take quite all the blue ribbons.

In the horse show, first places were won by Pat Bitner, Melissa Moore, Amy Moore, Donna Keys, Francis Moore, Susan Oglesby, Mary and Rebecca Highburger, Jan Niblet, Elizabeth Handley, Patti Davis, Richard Gilbert, Roger Petty, Nancy Yarnall, Rae Tennyson, and Penny Petty. Second-place awards went to Heather Yeatman, Amy Moore, Terry Petty, Melissa Moore, Rae Tennyson, Donna Keys, Cathleen Bradley, Pat Bitner, Nancy Yarnall, Debbie Rogers, Betsy Batson, Debbie Jackson, Shaunna Keys, Richard Gilbert, Laurie Ogonowski, Jane Niblet, Joyce Fidance, Patti Davis, Susan Ogonowski, and Roger Petty.

Rounding out the Breeder's Fair was a dog show, which had contest for obedience, grooming, and showing. Each contest was divided for different age competitors. First-place ribbons were presented by Barbara Holland, Darla Brunette, Rae Tennyson, and David Amalong.

U.S. accepts Canadian eggs

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services, announced that effective Oct. 23 Canada will be the first country eligible to export egg products to the United States since implementation of the Egg Products Inspection Act of 1970.

At the request of the Canadian government, officials of USDA's Food Safety and Quality Service (FSQS) reviewed the Canadian egg products inspection system and found it equivalent to that of the United States. FSQS then proposed to list Canada's egg products inspection system as equivalent to that of the United States, thereby entitling approved Canadian plants to export egg products to the United States.

The purpose of the Egg Products Inspection Act is to help assure that eggs and egg products that reach the consumer are wholesome. The act permits foreign countries to export egg products to the United States only if the foreign egg products inspection uses the same standards required by the act for domestic egg products and if plants operate under a continuous government inspection system approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Nine comments were received on the proposal to approve the Canadian inspection system. Most of them concerned the possible economic impact on the U.S. egg industry, which is beyond the scope of the Egg Products Inspection Act. Some comments also dealt with the adequacy and control of the Canadian egg products inspection system.
